Council boss resigns

Fallout from schools build fiasco sees end of council chief executive's reign

BY ROB GIBSON
rob.gibson@mk-news.co.uk

MILTON Keynes Council chief executive John Best has resigned.

The announcement was officially made last night after a special staffing committee meeting at the civic offices.

It follows heavy criticism of him in a damning report on the council's school build programme.

A specially prepared statement from Milton Keynes Council yesterday, said: "After five years at the helm of MK Council, during which he has led the organisation from being a weak council to three stars and improving, John Best is moving on from his current role."

Corporate director Kate Page has been appointed as interim chief executive as the council seeks to regain the public's trust and confidence.

Council leader Isobel McCall said: "It is excellent that measures have been put in place very quickly to make sure that someone is leading the work that needs to be done to restore confidence in the council."

"I very much welcome Kate's appointment and there is strong support from all parties that she should be appointed."

"John has been an extremely dedicated and enthusiastic chief executive who cares passionately about the council and Milton Keynes."

"He has been central to our improvement journey and I wish him the best of luck in whatever he turns his talents to next."

She added that it could take 'considerable time' to recruit a permanent chief executive.

The council leader had discussed the need to focus on the school build programme with John Best during his annual appraisal.

MK NEWS exclusively revealed details of the scathing school build report on February 20.

Since then Mr Best has been 'on leave' from the council.

Sources suggested that Mr Best had already left but that no official announcement would be made until details of a resignation package had been thrashed out.

It is understood this has now been agreed.

Yesterday's announcement, shortly after 6.30pm, followed a special staffing committee meeting held at the council.

John Best said: "I am tremendously grateful for the opportunity to have led the council at such a critical and exciting time in its evolution."

"To have worked for the city at a time when it has come of age, culminating with the visit of the Queen last November has been a real privilege."

"I remain a passionate citizen of MK and will look for ways to continue making a contribution to its remarkable journey."

The council statement praised him for 11 years work, beginning as environment director and as chief executive from 2003, describing him as "a major influence" on the city.

It said: "He has led the largest organisation in the city, with a workforce of 6,500 delivering 200 different services to the most rapidly growing community in the UK."

"He has been a major influence in helping the city find its way into the 21st century, working with boundless energy and commitment to actively promote MK's national and international profile in preparation for the

Bouncer cleared on violence rap

BY ROB GIBSON

rob.gibson@mk-news.co.uk

A DOORMAN has been cleared of trying to provoke violence outside Buddha Blue nightclub after claiming he acted in self defence when he punched a clubber.

Arif Hamid, 27, from Broughton, breathed a sigh of relief and hugged his solicitor outside court after he was found not guilty yesterday.

Magistrates at Milton Keynes were shown CCTV footage taken outside the Theatre District nightclub, from December 2 last year.

It showed several people being ejected by the door staff before Mr Hamid was seen punching one and restraining another.

He was charged with two counts of using threatening, abusive, or insulting words or behaviour towards two members of the public contrary to section four of the Public Order Act 1986.

On Monday, Ros Wilmin, prosecuting, told magistrates that at 3.30am two men were ejected from the club.

She said magistrates had to decide whether there was any suggestion that one of the men had a weapon and whether it was a reasonable attempt to restrain them.

Several police officers gave evidence and described a scene of "mayhem" when they arrived shortly after the incident.

But PC McElvenna described Mr Arif as "obstructive" and "uncooperative".

Yesterday, the defence called on a young clubber who witnessed the start of the commotion inside the venue.

Amy Peppard, a personal assistant, said a black male tried to chat her up on the dance floor, before grabbing her wrist when she declined his advances.

She said: "He said he knew girls who would beat me up."

"He gestured towards his pocket, pulled out a thick dark handle and said 'are you scared now?'"

"I do believe it was a weapon of some sort."

She alerted security inside the club who threw the man and his friends out of the club.

Danny Crane, another doorman, told the court that the group were shouting threats at the door staff.

He said: "He was a black man in his 20s and he threatened to stab me."

"He said he had a knife on him. I warned Arif to be careful."

Gemma Stokes, representing Mr Hamid, said: "The CCTV shows us a snapshot, not the whole context."

"He was told that man had a knife and he had a split second action to make."

"At the vital seconds he throws that punch you can't see that male's right hand."

"This was a man who was simply doing his job and protecting the public."

"This was reasonable force."

Chair of the magistrates Mr Dray said Mr Hamid was abusive to police, accusing them of failing to act, but found him not guilty of the charges.

He said: "We believe Mr Hamid thought there were knives present and acted in self defence."

"His actions were reasonable in the circumstances."

Scary Guy tells kids like it is

A SIX-FOOT tall, tattooed and pierced giant has visited a school to speak about prejudice, hate and bullying.

Internationally recognised behavioural expert, The Scary Guy, paid a visit to Oakgrove School on Monday.

Born in Minnesota and easily recognisable from his fully tattooed face, he has travelled all over the world and spread his global mission for 'The Total Elimination of Hate, Violence and Prejudice Worldwide.'

He spoke to an audience of 350 children and teachers from the school to discuss topics such as bullying, prejudice, anger, hate and violence to highlight the effects on individuals.

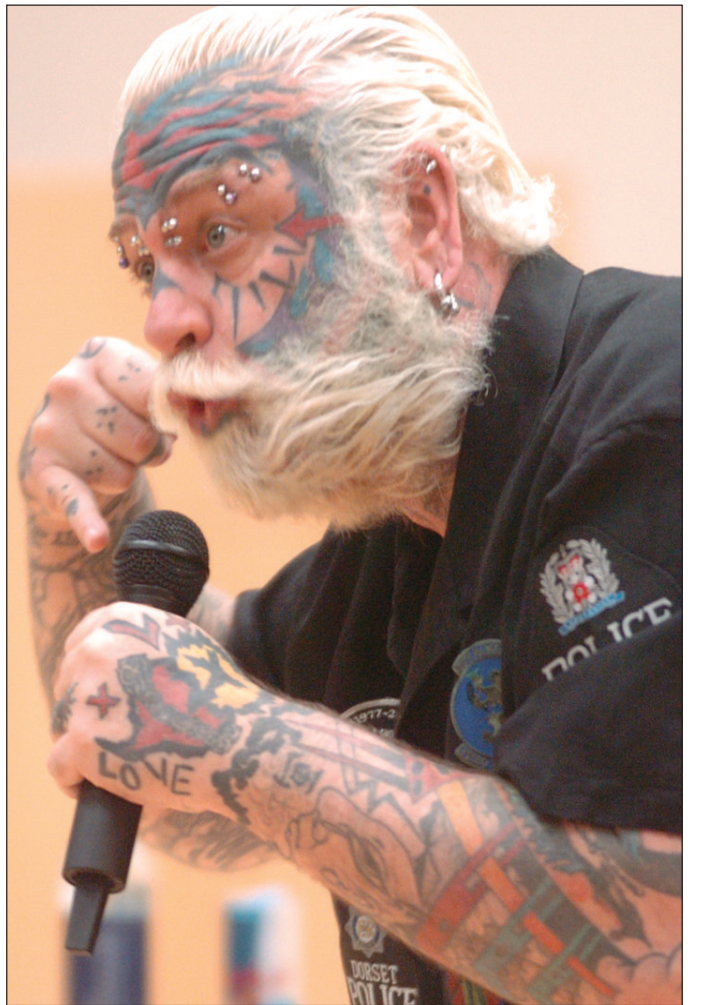

The Scary Guy's physical appearance of a six-foot tall, heavily built figure, tattooed and pierced from head to toe illustrates his key message of acceptance.

His manager, Gary Lee said: "When The Scary Guy walks into the room people create their own judgements."

"Without saying a word, The Scary Guy has made his point."

"When he begins to talk and interact with his audience, people see a totally different person from the guy that just walked through the door, which is the message we want people to listen to - highlighted by the classic phrase of 'don't judge a book by its cover.'"

The Scary Guy, who changed his name by deed poll 10 years ago, also launched his new mobile phone service during the visit.

Crossing campaigner: Peter Frazer on the V8 near Mount Farm

Report turns down grid road crossing

BY LAURA HANNAM

laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

COUNCILLORS have said no to a pedestrian crossing on a grid road where a child was killed and another was trapped under a bus.

But the stepfather of a 12-year-old boy who died on the road in 2003 says more still needs to be done to prevent similar tragedies.

A road safety review of the V7 Saxon Street, near Eaglestone and Coffee Hall has been carried out by Milton Keynes Council.

It looked at proposals to place a pedestrian crossing on the road, to relocate the northbound bus stop to prevent pedestrians from wanting to cross between the adjacent bus stops and the provision of a ramp facility at the existing overbridge to enhance facilities for the disabled.

The report, which was presented to councillors last Wednesday (March 5), recommended that all three not be carried out.

It said surveys of Saxon Street had shown only low numbers of people were crossing the grid road between the junctions with the H7 and H9.

It added that the relocation of the bus stop may lead to further pedestrians crossing the carriage-way as the distance for able-bodied users would be increased and, that the ramp facility offers low value for money and is not required.

Councillors agreed with the recommendations set out in the report, but added that better signage should be installed to promote the use of the redways as a safer alternative to crossing the grid roads and that the report should be sent to Sir Frank Markham Community School to promote educating children on the dangers of the grid roads.

The committee's recommendations will be considered by cabinet at a future meeting.

There were 23 injury accidents on this section of the V7 between September 2004 and July 2007, resulting in 33 casualties including one fatality and five serious injuries.

Just prior to this period there were two fatalities, including twelve-year-old Barrie Fraser who died on the street in December 2003 after being hit by a car.

The road has had a 40mph speed limit since 2004 after Barrie's stepfather Peter Fraser led a campaign for it to be reduced from 60mph and, mobile speed signs were put up in February 2007.

However, in August another 12-year-old was seriously injured – just yards from where Barrie died – after cycling into the road and being knocked off his bike and trapped under a double decker bus.

Mr Fraser, from Langland Close, Netherfield, said this shows more measures should be put in place to stop accidents from taking place and, disputes the council's claim that few people are crossing the road.

"You only have to drive along to see people still crossing," he said.

"What time did they go down there and did they only go down once?"

"I can't see why they can't put a crossing in, it wouldn't cause any major difficulty."

Ex-cop and reporter plead not guilty to all charges

A FORMER police detective from Milton Keynes has denied eight charges related to leaking sensitive information to the press.

Mark Kearney appeared at Kingston Crown Court this morning (10/3) alongside his son, Harry Kearney, Milton Keynes Citizen reporter Sally Murrer and private investigator Derek Webb.

Mr Kearney, 49, of Old Linslade, Leighton Buzzard, pleaded not guilty to eight charges of wilful misconduct in a public office.

Ms Murrer, 49, of Whipsnade Road, Kensworth, denied three charges of aiding, abetting, counselling or procuring Kearney to commit the offence.

Mr Webb, 53, of Springfield Crescent, Harpenden, pleaded not guilty to five charges of aiding and abetting misconduct in a public office.

Harry Kearney, a 20-year-old soldier, pleaded not guilty to one count of aiding and abetting, counselling and procuring misconduct in a public office.

He also denied a separate charge of possessing a class A drug.

Judge Charles Tilling scheduled the trial to start in November and it is expected to last five weeks.

MP 'rubbishing' attempt to hide the truth

SIR – I found the pathetic attempts to rubbish Mark Lancaster in your paper on March 5 quite laughable. The bunch of lefties lined up by the local Labour party to criticise the donation which Mark had already declared could not have timed it worse.

Their orchestrated, pious outbursts did well to coincide with the very report that he had been declared clean by the Parliamentary Commissioner for Standards.

They are obviously running scared that some investigation may show up discrepancies within their own organisation where Phyllis Starkey is too nervous to publish all her expenses as Mark has done. What is she afraid of?

This current Government has been shown up as more corrupt than any in recent history with even the PM investigated by the police.

This campaign would appear to be just the latest in their game of smoke and mirrors to confuse the electorate and hide the truth.

David Kirkbright
Lakes Lane, Newport Pagnell

■ SIR – Last week Andrew Pakes called for political transparency from MP Mark Lancaster.

Seeing that Mr Lancaster has correctly registered the donation and listed all of his MP's expenses in full, it would appear that that transparency is there for all to see.

It would appear however that Mr Pakes, by contrast, is rather less transparent.

Last October, like many others in Milton Keynes, I received a survey from Mr Pakes which arrived in a postage paid mailsort envelope.

Having done my research, the cost of such a project, even with just one letter per household, is in excess of £14,000.

May I ask Mr Pakes to confirm how much it cost and where the money came from?

Mr Pakes is required by law to have registered any donation with the Electoral Commission within 60 days but, having checked, no such registration has been made.

Nor for that matter has the local Labour Party registered its own accounts for the years 2003 or 2004.

Mr Pakes has already hidden the fact that he's a London councillor. Now he appears to be hiding sizable donations himself.

So come on Mr Pakes, rather than write your poison pen letters from Southwark let's have some answers.

Where's all your money coming from?

Dave Burn
Cranesbill Place, Conniburrow

Hip hop to it Bowl boss

SIR – It was great to hear that The Bowl has announced plans for a concert featuring hip hop star Jay-z and rockers Linkin Park.

I hope that this is the first of many concerts to be announced this year.

I'm sure I was not alone in being disappointed that the venue which has such a rich history for playing host to some of the giants of rock and pop didn't have any concerts last year.

This is a venue that we should be proud of, so come on let's get some more big names down to Milton Keynes and make it a summer to remember.

Drink blitz should be an ongoing operation

SIR – Isn't it a good thing that police are finally doing something about the problem of under age drinking.

Your article last week 'Police hitting the bottles in blitz on teenage drinkers was a reassuring read.

The article said that nearly 300 alcoholic drinks were confiscated from youths over a two week period during Operation Disrupt.

My concern is that will police be able to keep up the same sort of effort once the high profile operation has ended.

These sort of operations need to be made part and parcel of the police forces job, not just occasional operations that get heavily reported by the media and then forgotten.

We need to get officers out of their offices completing reams of meaningless paperwork and back onto the streets where they can be at their most effective as in this recent operation.

Mr P Jones
Ashpole Furlong, Loughton

Mr B Green
Whaddon Way, Bletchley

Give us a break

SIR – I think bringing siestas to UK is an absolutely brilliant idea.

But I don't think we should wait until Britain gets warmer, as the article says – I think we should have them now!

I'm sure there are plenty of times a week when the average office worker, of which there are many in Milton Keynes, feels they could do with a shifty 20 minute 'power nap' in the early afternoon.

And I believe if we were able to do this that productivity would in fact increase as staff would be rejuvenated for the rest of the day.

LETTERS POLICY

Letters must arrive by noon on Monday. Full name and address must be supplied. Details will be withheld in only exceptional circumstances. Letters should be kept short and to the point and may be edited.

about the fact her son 'eats like there is no tomorrow' and that she has to shop every day 'because if it's in here he'll eat it'.

Hasn't she just answered her own question? If it is not there, he won't be able to eat it.

If he is eating frozen profiteroles out of the freezer, don't have them in the freezer.

If you only have healthy food in the house eventually he will be so hungry he will no longer complain and just eat what is available.

And get out and have a walk with him, go to the park and get some exercise together.

Surely it is up to parents to take on their own responsibility and have some discipline over their children?

With attitudes like this it is no wonder child obesity is going through the roof.

How can parents blame our health services for something that is their problem to fix?

Football virgin

SIR – I'm not a football fan, in fact I have never been to a professional football match in my life.

But I, like many other glory-supporters in Milton Keynes, will be trekking down to Wembley to support the MK Dons on Sunday, March 16.

And I am actually quite excited about it – I am looking forward to enjoying the sights and sounds of a football match in that magnificent stadium.

Plus, I think it is a great thing to be able to support our local team.

So, as a football virgin I want to encourage others like me to get down to the game if they can, or at least watch it on TV, and support our lads!

Name and address supplied

True litter lout

SIR – I support the council in their bid to clamp down on litterbugs.

Why people still insist on dropping litter in this green age is quite beyond me.

The other day I was walking along Midsummer Boulevard towards the city centre and saw a young person throw a crisp packet onto the floor when he could not have been more than five yards from the nearest bin. I shouted to him and asked him if he minded picking it up and putting it in the bin.

At that point he turned around and told me to mind my own xxx business and walked off.

Needless to say I picked up the packet and was left feeling very disappointed and angry.

More power to the enforcement officers at the council to continue this positive campaign.

Somalian denies he helped beat cannabis farmer

BY ROB GIBSON

rob.gibson@mk-news.co.uk

A SOMALIAN refugee has denied delivering a fatal beating to a cannabis farmer while trying to steal his drugs.

As the trial into the murder of Bletchley man Doug Belcher continued yesterday, a 19-year-old Somali defendant, gave his evidence.

Yussuf Mire, of Meryat Avenue, Harrow, claimed he and a friend had broken into Mr Belcher's garage to steal a stash of cannabis plants but panicked when he unexpectedly came home.

He said he fled the house in Tweed Drive, Far Bletchley, but then remembered his friend and went back to find him struggling with Mr Belcher.

The retired engineer died in hospital after he was found lying battered and bleeding in the road outside his home on April 2, 2007.

Four men are on trial for conspiracy to murder.

Benjamin Lloyd, of Trafalgar Avenue, Milton Keynes; Stephen Lloyd, of Chesham; Mahad Ali, of Harrow, and Yussuf Mire all deny conspiracy to murder.

The Lloyd brothers both deny a separate charge of assisting an offender.

At Reading Crown Court, the jury heard that Yussuf Mire had been brought to the UK as a refugee baby but now held a full British passport.

He showed the jury the middle finger of his right hand which is permanently bent after he was stabbed when he was younger.

Dead: Doug Belcher

Mr Mire said: "Ever since that attack I do not feel like myself."

He said his friend Mahad Ali, 20, had approached him to burgle a house in Milton Keynes and that he was driven there by 34-year-old Stephen Lloyd and his brother Benjamin, aged 30.

He believed that all four of them were to carry out the burglary but when they arrived the two Somalis were told they would have to break in alone because it was too risky for the Lloyd brothers as they were known in the area.

Mr Mire said: "I was constantly reassured that no-one would be in the premises at the time the burglary was going to take place."

He said they failed to break through the door with a crowbar so went in through the garage and were searching for the drugs when Mr Belcher returned.

Mr Mire said he heard a loud 'Oi' and ran out of garage but had gone back in to find Mr Ali pushing a bloody Mr Belcher to the ground.

He denied hitting Mr Belcher himself.

The teenager said Mr Belcher asked them what they wanted and they said 'the stuff' so he told them: 'There's been a security breach, I had to move it somewhere else'.

Mr Mire told the jury that the three of them set off in Mr Belcher's van with his dog, Alice, to collect the cannabis from another house.

But after an angry phone call from Stephen Lloyd, they had turned back towards Mr Belcher's home, where he fell from the van.

The four defendants then fled back to London.

Prosecutor Neil Moore accused Mr Mire of telling a pack of lies to save himself from being convicted of murder.

He said: "I suggest to you that you delivered a beating to Mr Belcher - Mr Ali with the crowbar and you using your fists."

"That you then put him in the back of the van when he was very poorly with those injuries that he had suffered."

"Then, when you realised he was injured and of no further use to you, Mr Ali threw him out of the back of the van outside his own house."

Mr Mire said: "That's not true."

Council chief executive resigns city's significantly increased influence in the future.

"At the same time, under his stewardship the council has won a number of national and regional awards and can point to steadily increasing citizen approval."

While the council remained tightlipped about the future of their chief executive many inside the civic offices knew that the writing was on the wall.

The independent review, commissioned by council leader Isobel McCall tore the corporate leadership team (CLT) - including the chief executive and the director of learning and development, Vanessa Gwynn to shreds.

The CLT consisted of Mr Best, three corporate directors and two assistant chief executives.

Twenty four hours prior to the report's publication Cllr Euan Henderson, cabinet member with responsibility for school buildings resigned.

The report focused on senior management practices and was carried out by Solace Enterprises senior associate, Richard Penn after an internal review in December highlighted major weaknesses in the school build programme.

Last year Giles Brook School in Tattenhoe was forced to close after the ceiling threatened to cave in.

Concerns were originally raised with the council in 2003 but the school did not close until 2006.

The report said: 'I read and heard of many examples where the chief executive was seen by members, officers, school heads, governors, and the local MP to have been less than engaged with the emerging problems with the school build programme, where direct approaches to him to resolve serious issues were 'brushed aside' and where he did not take the kind of decisive action - described colloquially as 'knocking heads together' - expected of the head of a paid service when the situation demanded it.

'The view was expressed to me consistently by the leader and other cabinet members that the chief executive has been insufficiently engaged with the wider council agenda, particularly in respect of education and personal social services'.

Vanessa Gwynn's future remains uncertain after she was accused of failing to implement rigorous governance arrangements, with the report adding: 'I have received no clear explanation of the director's apparent lack of proactivity in addressing the major organisational problems associated with the school build programme'.

PM backs plans for campus uni

BY LAURA HANNAM

laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

THE Prime Minister has supported plans for Milton Keynes to bid to have a university in the city.

His comment follows the Secretary of State for Universities' announcement last week that he wants the Government to open or commit funding for 20 university campuses over the next six years.

Speaking during Prime Minister's Questions in the Commons yesterday Dr Phyllis Starkey, MP for Milton Keynes South West, called for a guarantee the city's bid would be successful.

"In Milton Keynes the Open University, De Montfort University, the University of Luton, University College Northampton and Milton Keynes College are already collaborating, through Universities for Milton Keynes, to provide higher education courses for 700 students locally," she said.

"Would my Right Honourable Friend agree that is just the type of initiative that the new university challenge has been designed for and that Milton Keynes will be successful in its bid for one of the 20 new universities?"

The PM replied: "Milton Keynes has done a historic job as the home of the Open University, which is known throughout the world and, given Milton Keynes' size, its application for university status will be welcomed in every part of the country."

The Higher Education Funding Council for England will now lead a consultation to decide how proposals should move forward.

Any bid from Milton Keynes would require consultation between Milton

Keynes Council, the local business community, education partners and community groups.

Dr Phyllis Starkey said: "Not only would a Milton Keynes campus unlock the talents of local people but local businesses will benefit hugely from the jobs, skills and opportunities that such a campus would bring."

"I look forward to working with the government and the Milton Keynes community to put together a really strong bid to meet this new 'university challenge'."

Mark Lancaster, MP for North East Milton Keynes said: "Milton Keynes is a perfect candidate for an undergraduate university. Having let us down over school funding, let's hope that the Government doesn't let us down when it comes to higher education."

Midnight man: First in the queue David Leigh gets his tickets after an 8-hour wait

Football fever hits city as tickets sell out in days

BY SIMONE CORGAN

simone.corgan@mk-news.co.uk

THE city is buzzing as MK Dons fans get Wembley fever.

There are just 18 days to go until the Johnstone's Paint Trophy final at Wembley Stadium against Grimsby Town and the city is going football crazy.

The original 26,000 tickets allocated to the Dons were snapped up in four days.

Response from supporters has been so overwhelming the club have applied for more tickets. They hope to receive enough to top the 30,000 mark but are not expecting more until the weekend.

General manager Keith Dickens said: "I'm certain that we'll have enough to take us past our chairman's 30,000 target. I don't expect us to be in a position to reopen selling until the weekend at the earliest. I would like to thank everybody for their support and patience through all of this. Thanks to our supporters for 'cutting us a little slack' on this one."

One supporter, Steve Baldock, has organised a fleet of coaches to take fans to the home of English football.

But the Dons Travel Club have received far more interest than they anticipated with 80 coaches now fully booked.

Players measure up for big day

ON Sunday the Dons' players preparations for the big day began, not on the pitch, but in the dressing room.

The team were measured up for their brand new cup final suits.

The suits provided by Hugo Boss will be charcoal grey.

Seamstress Val Rogers went to stadiummk to take the measurements of players and first team staff to guarantee they have the perfect fit.

When you think of cup final suits Liverpool's all white 1996 Armani outfit crops up, but fans need not worry the 38 Dons representatives will wear charcoal grey - similar to that worn by Chelsea for the 2007 FA Cup Final.

Supporters also have the chance to get kitted out for the big day with a number of special edition items now available at the club shop. Tops including polo shirts (£10), T-shirts (£9), fleeces (£20) have been embroidered with the Dons badge and 'Wembley 08' while other T-shirts (£12) simply read 'MK Dons Wembley 08 Johnstone's Paint Trophy Final 30th March 2008'.

The Dons will also be wearing red for the final.

Replica kits (£33-35 for kids, £40 for adults), with 'Wembley 08' printed will also go on sale later this week.

Foam hands (£5), scarves (£7), badges (£3), rosettes and mugs (£6) are among other merchandise on sale.

Deliveries of baseball caps, flags and car flags are also expected.

Fans can also log onto www.mkdons.com or call 01908 647484 to purchase the stock.

Ian on song for Wembley

Fan Ian Roberts has written a Dons song for Wembley

ONE supporter has written his own anthem for the Dons.

Ian Roberts, from Western Underwood near Olney, penned GO:Milton Keynes after visiting stadiummk and has incorporated their trip to Wembley in the song.

The three-minute song includes the lyrics:

"Strolling down the boulevard whistling all the way,

"Thinking about my beloved MK Dons, Dreaming of our stadium and thinking of some songs...

"...We've got the finest stadium in the country,

"The finest bunch of players and the finest cup of tea,

"We're gonna win the league 'cause we're on the up',

"Then off to Wembley where we're gonna lift the Cup."

The enthusiastic musician has already given a copy of the song to Dons' chairman Pete Winkelman and he's hoping the fans will embrace it as the Wembley song.

"I thought the club needed a song that will gel the whole city together and help people feel apart of the match.

"I'd like MK Dons to endorse the song and I'm having CD's made so hopefully the local record stores will stock them."

The GO:Milton Keynes tuned came to Ian as he was whistling a tune and there was no other subject the 45-year-old wanted to write about other than Milton Keynes and MK Dons.

"Milton Keynes is the city of dreams. It came from nothing and now has everything. The football club has played a major part in it's growth."

"To get fans singing a long would be a dream come true. Let's hope people get behind the Dons, get behind the song and we bring the Cup back to Milton Keynes."

Tumble dryer fire guts garage

A TUMBLE dryer caught fire and burned a garage down while three people sat in the adjoining house.

The unsuspecting residents were able to escape safely after fire services rushed to extinguish the blaze as it threatened to spread to the house.

Fire crews from Great Holm and Bletchley were called to Redland Drive, Loughton, just after 6pm on Thursday but the roof was already well alight.

Station Manager Dave Norris said: "The crews worked quickly and efficiently to prevent the blaze from spreading to the house."

Terry Ridgley, head of Buckinghamshire Fire & Rescue Service's Community Safety team, said: "There are a number of risks associated with washing machines, tumble dryers and dishwashers."

"They are a fire risk because of their high wattage, friction and motors."

MK athlete jumps at chance to raise cash wearing stilts and a full kangaroo outfit

BY SIMONE CORGAN

simone.corgan@mk-news.co.uk

A RUNNER from Milton Keynes will be jumping for joy when he completes the Sports Relief route this weekend.

Alix Leckie will take part in the charity event but decided running was too easy a challenge so has upped the ante by wearing jumping stilts and a kangaroo outfit.

His wacky idea came after the-hub:mk was named as an official venue for the Sports Relief mile.

Opting for three miles instead of one or six was an easy choice for Alix yet his preparations have been far from ideal.

Alix, an audio visual technician at Accenture's Kents Hill Park Training and Conference Centre, had had his tonsils out which put a halt to his training and only returned to his gruelling schedule last week.

"I haven't trained as much as I would have liked," said 19-year-old Alix, "but I will be doing an hour-and-a-half every night to make up for it."

"It's much more difficult than I anticipated but it should be a laugh."

On top of getting his balance on the pro jumps spot on during the race Alix also has to contend with hundreds of competitors and the slightest knock from other runners could result in a nasty tumble.

"I'm a bit worried about running in the crowd, I just have to try and keep my distance. I don't want to fall on anybody."

But should he fall over, something he has only done twice on the stilts, Alix has assured his sponsors he will dust himself down and set-off again.

"If I have to I'll push myself through it. I've done charity events before and had bad falls but your body just overcomes the pain."

Wizard: Alix Leckie gets in some practise on his running stilts

A few practices around Willen Lake has allowed Alix to set a target of 45 minutes to complete his distance, however that ideal time could go out the window once he tries on the kangaroo outfit with the pro jumps for the first time.

On the evening his employers, Accenture, will be manning the phones to take donations from the general public.

From 7pm to midnight more than 140 volunteers will help the worthwhile cause.

Thousands expected to run Miles

THOUSANDS of charity runners are to descend on Milton Keynes city centre this weekend to take part in the Sports Relief Miles.

Milton Keynes was picked as one of 23 regional centres to host the national Sports Relief Miles organised across the UK to raise thousands of pounds to help vulnerable people living incredibly tough lives both at home in the UK and in the world's poorest countries.

The action starts from 10am with runners warming up for a choice of one, three or six mile events that are due to go off at 11am and midday on Sunday, March 16, from Midsummer Boulevard.

During the event Midsummer Boulevard and parts of Witan Gate and Silbury Boulevard will be closed from 6am until 9pm. Cars will also be prevented from parking in the exclusion area from 6pm Saturday night.

On the day at The Hub the DJs will start the music rolling from midday and other entertainment.

Disabled spectators and participants on production of a blue badge will have access to designated parking area on the day within the road closure area.

Gin Corrado, event coordinator for the council, said: "We are absolutely delighted by the fantastic response to the event in Milton Keynes with thousands of runners and spectators expected to turn up on Sunday."

"Sports Relief is just one of many dynamic events planned for 2008, promoting Milton Keynes as a great venue for national events."

The Great No Smoking Day Challenge

Can you last a week?

Week or weak? Have you got the will to quit?

BY ROB GIBSON

rob.gibson@mk-news.co.uk

SMOKERS will be challenged to quit from today during a series of events to mark No Smoking Day.

Staff at Milton Keynes Hospital will use computer technology to show people what they will look like in 10 years time if they continue to smoke.

The computer program provides personalised, science based illustrations of how smoking can affect facial appearance by premature ageing.

Smokers can also volunteer to be monitored for carbon monoxide at the main reception area.

The Milton Keynes PCT Smoking Cessation Team and hospital staff will coordinate "The Great No Smoking Day Challenge".

Mark Baverstock, Advance Nurse Practitioner in Respiratory Medicine, said: "More than a quarter of the adult population in Milton Keynes smoke and half of all smokers will die prematurely because they smoke."

"Death rates from respiratory disease, chronic obstructive pulmonary disease (COPD) and lung cancer are consistently higher in Milton Keynes than the national average."

"No Smoking Day provides an excellent opportunity for smokers to stop."

"Smoking is the single most important cause of avoidable ill health and premature death."

Along with the huge health benefits of quitting the hospital says that people would save money.

Giving up a 20-a-day habit can save up to £36 a week so if smokers stop on No Smoking Day, by June they will have saved over £400.

Stopping smoking reduces the risk of cardiovascular disease, lung disease, cancer and stroke.

Call the Milton Keynes Stop Smoking Service on 01908 500096.

Shhh! New user-friendly library reception opens

A NEW chapter in the life of the central library has started.

Over the past few weeks the central library in Silbury Boulevard has been refurbished and was officially opened by Cllr Sandra Clark last Thursday.

The reception area of the library has been made open plan with a brighter look and feel as well as new furniture and computers with Internet access.

The open plan also allows people with disabilities to move around the reception far more easily than before.

One of the main new features is a self service area to allow users to borrow, renew and return books by scanning them in one easy operation – similar to supermarket check outs.

The system will free staff to give advice and help with other enquiries as well as being on hand for those customers who prefer to have their books issued in the traditional way.

Cllr Sandra Clark celebrated the event by being the first citizen to issue her own books with her new look membership card and said: "Libraries remain a great way for everyone to enjoy books, music, films and other resources and by investing in this work we hope to improve the experience and make the service more accessible to everyone."

"It's exciting to have this investment in the library which will improve our services to new and existing customers."

"We would like to thank our customers who have been patient while the work has been underway. We do hope that people will come in and enjoy the new facilities."

Cllr Clark also took the opportunity to launch a poetry competition to celebrate the National Year of Reading.

Elsewhere, Mayor Cllr Mike Barry is due to open a new library

Swipe me: Reader Caroline Beeley checks out her books at one of the new self service counters at the refurbished Central library this week to serve book lovers on the eastern side of Milton Keynes.

Kingston library located within the community centre building behind the main shopping arcade will be opened on Friday.

The new library will have the full range of services including a range of books, CDs, DVDs for children and adults and a PC with internet access for use by the public.

The library will open for 29 hours a week, including weekends on Tuesday, Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Cllr Sandra Clark said: "We have been planning for this library for some time."

"It is very pleasing to be able to respond to local people who said that they wanted a library here."

"We hope that this will be the first step towards opening a larger library once suitable premises can be found, but we really wanted this thriving and growing part of the community to have its own library as soon as possible."

Dodgeball – catch it if you can

JACK Brown only turned up to play dodgeball because his friends thought he may be good at catching.

Now the rugby player is due to appear at the British Championship – due to be screened on Channel 4.

Jack, 20, is a member of the New City Outlaws, a representative team from Milton Keynes.

The Outlaws won the Southern UK Dodgeball championship on January 9 to qualify for the British Championship on April 20.

That event is set to be televised in May, with negotiations believed to be underway with Channel 4 and Eurosport.

And Jack, who plays for Dodge It Cool in the MK-based New City Dodgeball league, is confident the Outlaws can win the tournament, which takes place at the Guildford Spectrum Leisure Centre.

He said: “We have got such a chance of winning it. It will be a real achievement to be on TV playing a sport I enjoy. My video recorder will definitely be on.

“Dodgeball is a fast flowing game and you can have a lot of fun playing it.

“You can have a really quick turn-around in games and go from winning to losing in a flash.”

The United Kingdom Dodgeball Association rankings currently rate the New City Outlaws as the sixth best side in the country.

But the side won the Southern Championship without losing a match and dropping just two games throughout.

And it was further boosted by victory in the Northampton Open Tournament on Sunday, where top ranked side Jammy Dodgers were beaten in the final.

Jack from Miles Avenue, Leighton Buzzard added: “We had a great time yesterday. We have been seen as underdogs, so to beat the top teams was a nice feeling.

“It is good to excel at something. I started playing when a group of mates asked me to come down because I play rugby and they thought I might be able to catch.”

Dodgeball came to prominence following the success of the film of the same name starring Vince Vaughn and Ben Stiller.

The game consists of two teams of six lining up on opposite sides of a pitch to compete in a best of seven games match. Three balls are retrieved and then thrown at the opposition in a two minute game.

A player is out if he is hit by a ball, but if he catches it the thrower is out. Players can also be eliminated if they step out of the pitch.

Rob Norris, co-founder of the New City league, said: “We formed the league two years ago and decided to put the all star team together for last year’s national championship, which we came fourth in.

“That gave us the impression we were good enough.

“A lot of teams underestimated us in the regionals, but the secret is out now and we feel teams are gunning for us.

“I personally think if we don’t get to the national final, we will be disappointed.”

Rob is also taking the sport into schools around the region, starting with Long Meadow in Shenley Brook End in Milton Keynes and The Grove in Aylesbury.

Addict died of overdose after quitting rehab

A HEROIN addict and alcoholic died of an overdose shortly after discharging himself from rehab, an inquest has heard.

Lee William Keefe, 34, of no fixed abode was sleeping at friends’ houses. He was found dead by his ex-partner in the early hours of Thursday, November 22 last year.

Kia Gregory, his ex-girlfriend, had allowed him to stay at her flat in Bridgeway, New Bradwell due to the bad weather.

After falling asleep on the sofa, she awoke at 3am and went up to the bedroom to find him slumped across the bed fully clothed with a half empty can of beer in his hand.

A post-mortem showed Mr Keefe had nearly twice the legal driving limit of alcohol in his blood and high levels of morphine, a by-product of heroin.

The level was high enough to be associated with death.

Consultant pathologist Veejay Desai said Mr Keefe died of an overdose of heroin combined with over-ingestion of alcohol.

Mr Keefe had been taking class-A drugs for more than ten years, including heroine and crack cocaine.

He had received help from the Community Drug and Alcohol Centre (CDAC), in Netherfield since 2000.

In October 2007 he was admitted for detox at St Andrews Hospital in Northampton.

His treatment was successful and on discharge he decided to go to Weston-Super-Mare for residential rehabilitation only to discharge himself days later.

Coroner Rodney Corner said: “It is my view that he had regressed to his habit and had taken both heroin and alcohol.

“I don’t think he realised quite what effect taking both would have on him.”

The coroner gave a verdict of accidental death caused by an overdose of heroin combined with over-ingestion of alcohol.

Chiltern Marble opens new showrooms

CHILTERN MARBLE was first established in 1998, as a manufacturer of high quality granite worktops and supplier of leading tiles. The business has grown from an initial small industrial unit to a 20,000 sq foot factory and offices based out of Kempston, Bedfordshire.

Originally servicing the area of Beds, Herts and Central London, further expansion was needed to cover the Bucks border also. It was realised that Milton Keynes and Northampton were prime locations for additional retail outlets.

Be inspired at the exclusive new retail outlets. The new showrooms in Milton Keynes and Northampton house a fantastic range of popular and exotic granite, the latest colours and anti-bacterial quartz range, natural stone and modern porcelains and ceramic tiles.

The sales team will be only too happy to discuss and assist customers with whatever project large or small. Within the showrooms you are able to view and select your requirements from our extensive in-stock range, the ultimate in style, luxury, durability and ergonomics.

Many customers ask to see an example of a finished kitchen worktop, so a local firm, Zest Kitchen

Design were commissioned to install a state-of-the-art, high black-gloss kitchen into the Milton Keynes showroom. This was completed with an exquisite granite worktop. It really is a must see!

Paul Rafferty, Milton Keynes Manager is delighted with the new showroom and is looking forward to a very successful year ahead. Paul said: “It is great to see leading-edge kitchens being fitted with our hand-crafted granite worktops, our personal attention to detail is paramount when servicing a customers needs. Super-powered broadband comes to Milton Keynes

MILTON Keynes is the first WiMAX-powered Internet city and at the forefront of digital technology.

Focused on providing residents and local businesses with a high speed wireless broadband service, Connect MK Ltd (a company created by MK Council) has teamed up with FREEDOM4 to provide wireless internet connectivity to the city.

With limited existing infrastructure in various parts of Milton Keynes to access traditional ADSL broadband, WiMAX provides a cost-effective alternative for high-powered internet connectivity.

WiMAX enables broadband to be rapidly installed at customers' premises or home, with no BT line required.

The technology works over longer distances than other wireless technologies, providing high-speed internet access with rapid upload and download speeds, ideal for consumers and businesses.

It's the perfect solution for users who need to send and receive large volumes of data, or for companies with lots of email users. WiMAX is also extremely user friendly and easy to set-up, providing a personal wireless broadband experience.

Connect MK and FREEDOM4 are also working to use the WiMAX service to benefit the community. Partnering with Leon School & Sports College, the two organisations are providing laptops and wireless broadband access at a reduced cost to students and their families, in an initiative aimed at raising standards of local education and giving students an important resource for education today.

"With cutting-edge technology at the heart of our city, we are extremely proud to be the first region in the UK to be offering people," explains Steven Jewell, chief executive, Connect MK Ltd. "With the help of FREEDOM4, we are able to close the digital divide and a high speed broadband service that can benefit the whole community."

Where's the best place to eat in MK?

SO where are the best places to eat in Milton Keynes?

MK NEWS, Kimbells Solicitors and MKWeb have teamed up once again to launch The Milton Keynes Restaurant of the Year 2008 Awards to find out.

And this time around we have been joined by sponsor Savills in launching the 2008 awards.

Last years inaugural awards were a huge success. This year we expect them to be even bigger and better.

The awards were introduced in 2007 to raise awareness of eating out in the Milton Keynes area and to identify the high fliers among our restaurants and eateries.

Venues can be nominated by members of the public in several categories including best business lunch, for best service and best newcomer - recognising the arrival of many new restaurants in Milton Keynes over the last year.

From a combination of votes cast by diners between April and June and input from an expert judging panel, the overall winner of Restaurant of the Year will be announced in September.

Last year's overall winners were The Crooked Billet at Newton Blossomville, with The Taipan in the theatre district winning best business lunch and family venue categories and the Dipalee being recognised for best service. All have been able to benefit from the publicity associated with winning the awards.

Savills increased its presence in Milton Keynes since its acquisition of Hephher Dixon in November 2006 which had been operating in Milton Keynes since their inception in 1995. They have a successful track record of achieving planning permission on some of the important developments in Milton Keynes, including The MK Stadium, home of the MK Dons, the IKEA store and the HUB development currently being constructed.

Head of Milton Keynes Office Ian Simpson said: "We are delighted to be involved in the Restaurant of the Year awards. As we build our presence in the Milton Keynes area, this seemed an ideal opportunity to support a local initiative through sponsorship."

MK NEWS' Jonathan Cropley, MK Web's Debbie Sellers and Kimbell's Valerie Warman are joined by Jeremy Pyatt, Ian Simpson and Charmaine Williams from Savills to toast MK Restaurant of the Year

HOW TO VOTE & HOW TO ENTER

You can vote for your favourite restaurant by completing voting cards which will be available in venues from 1 April, by using the voting slip which will be printed in MK NEWS or by voting online at www.mkweb.co.uk.

Restaurants can sign up to be part of the awards by visiting www.restaurantoftheyear.co.uk/roty

From strength to strength: Elizabeth Adlington the new boss at Milton Keynes Theatre.

New boss hoping to expand theatre

BY LAURA HANNAM

laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

THE new boss at MK Theatre hopes to keep the venue in the spotlight.

Elizabeth Adlington, the theatre's new chief executive, says this will be one of her biggest challenges as the theatre is no longer new.

She said the venue has gone from strength to strength since it opened in October 1999.

"The team that was here and opened the theatre worked incredibly hard to prove the case for the venue and to realise the dream.

"To put Milton Keynes on a national map was very important as the companies that come here have to feel absolutely confident that they will get the support they need, there will be an audience for their work and that it is worth their while – that was one of the biggest challenges in opening the building.

"But after all of these things we have got to stay ahead, we produce some of the highest national figures but we have got to maintain the audience's interest."

"Those are significant challenges because it is easier to do it when you are new and exciting."

Mrs Adlington, who has more than 20 years arts industry experience, has been chosen to take up the post as head of the theatre by its owner the Ambassador Theatre Group (ATG).

She joined the team at the beginning of February, following a career at the Arts Council where “Passions run high about the theatre and I think that is fabulous, because I know there are lots of examples where people are content to ‘leave it’ about their local theatre – but that certainly isn’t the case in Milton Keynes

– Elizabeth Adlington

she was director of touring and international strategy for seven years.

Before that, she was executive director of the Oxford Stage Company.

During her time with the Arts Council she followed the progress of Milton Keynes' theatre right from when the plans were just on the drawing board, through to opening night and beyond.

She also gave some input during the venue's design stages into planning how the theatre would accommodate touring companies.

"It's been a thrill to see the success of all the ideas, which were presented to the Arts Council to ask for their support," she said.

"I felt that I watched Milton Keynes' story but from a different place."

She said she has been impressed by the local support for the theatre throughout its history.

"Passions run high about the theatre and I think that is fabulous, because I know there are lots of examples where people are content to 'leave it' about their local theatre – but that certainly isn't the case in Milton Keynes."

Another of her aims for the theatre is to keep providing a high quality, varied programme attracting top-notch productions such as those from the West End and the likes of the Royal Shakespeare Company, the Welsh National Opera and National Theatre.

She will also be making efforts to expand the theatre's outreach and education programme, holding more events like January's Live 08 festival of creativity, which offered performances, workshops, insights, tours, exhibitions, music and activities to more than 600 people.

She added that she hopes plans for a second, smaller theatre space in Milton Keynes, which are being considered by ATG, will complement the first and allow the venue to cater for a wider variety of productions including smaller, more experimental theatre.

Mrs Adlington took over the role from previous chief executive Rachel Tackley, who left ATG after five years to become the director of English Touring Theatre.

Mother of twins killed crossing grid road

A MOTHER was killed when she was hit by a car while crossing a grid road after a night out an inquest heard.

Kimberlaine Schiltz, from Velcan Avenue, Fishermead died in the early hours of Saturday March 1, after an incident on the H6 Childs Way.

The 38-year-old divorcee, and mother of 13-year-old twins, had been on a night out in Central Milton Keynes with a colleague.

The pair stopped at the BP garage on the H6 to get some money from the cash point.

The machine was empty so they went to cross the grid road to reach the petrol station on the opposite side of the dual carriageway. While crossing she was hit by another vehicle. She was confirmed dead at the scene at 1.52am.

The funeral of Mrs Schiltz, who worked for Siemens at Willen Lake, takes place at Crownhill Crematorium on March 17 at 12pm.

The inquest was adjourned until June. The incident is still subject to police investigation.

Babies get to boogie at Buddha Blue club

A NEW nightclub is opening – for babies.

The event known as 'Baby Loves to Boogie' will take place at Buddha Blue nightclub in the Theatre District once a month.

The concept has already proved successful in America and gives mums, dads and their children somewhere to boogie in the afternoon.

Andy Stefanczyk, co-founder of Baby Loves to Boogie, said: "It's an event for the whole family, no format, just great atmosphere, as much fun for you as your baby."

Sally Turnham co-founder of Baby Loves to Boogie added: "Buddha Blue in the Theatre District was chosen as our venue because Robin, who manages the club, has a young family himself and embraced the concept."

"Not quite what Buddha Blue is known for, but still a great chic venue - we chose it because it hit all the right buttons".

The club promises feel-good music (not too loud for little ears, of course), flashing lights, smoke and bubble machines, rattles and tambourines for getting on down, a chill out and soft play area with snacks and healthy drinks for the kids and bar for mums and dads. There is also a baby-changing facility.

Baby Loves to Boogie comes to Milton Keynes on Sunday, March 30 between 2 and 5pm.

It's free for non-walking babies, £5 for kids and £7.50 for adults.

Tickets are available (as is more info) on the website www.babylovestoboogie.co.uk or call the info/ticket hotline on 075 910 85585 between 9am-7pm weekdays and 9am-12pm weekends.

Police raids clamp down on the farms

Cannabis growers are feeling the pinch as cops close nine sites on one city estate alone

BY LAURA HANNAM

laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

POLICE raided the ninth cannabis farm found in Fishermead this year on Monday.

At around 12pm on March 3, officers entered the property in Polruan and found 569 cannabis plants.

No one was at the property at the time and all plants and equipment were seized.

PC Mark Ridley, who led the raid, said: "We will not tolerate drug farms in Milton Keynes.

"This year we have discovered nine in Fishermead alone and we will continue to shut any more down and put a stop to drug dealers coming into Milton Keynes and setting up cannabis farms.

He added: "I want to stress Fishermead is only one estate and there could possibly be other cannabis farms in other estates in MK.

"It is vital residents are aware of any signs of cannabis farms and contact the police if they suspect anything. We rely on community intelligence for warrants such as this and we need their help to stamp it out of the city all together."

Members of the Fishermead Neighbourhood Team can be contacted on 0845 8 505 505. Or contact Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555 111.

HUNDREDS of people who were helped into jobs or training by a college scheme gathered at stadiummk last week.

The crowds flocked to the venue last Wednesday (March 5) to celebrate the Routes to Success (R2S) programme, which has helped 450 people in Milton Keynes get a job and another 1,500 to take training courses in under two years.

The programme involves Milton Keynes College teaming up with the Play Association, Relate, Women and Work and other community groups to encourage people on the city's older estates to take up basic training courses and the first step towards gaining further qualifications and employment.

Murna Braham from the Routes to Success project, said: "We have far exceeded our targets and with the number of people who have benefited from our support we really did have a lot to shout about."

"Our success stories are incredible – a mum unable to read and write who is now doing a teaching course and an unemployed drug addict winning a place at university."

Our success stories are incredible – a mum unable to read and write who is now doing a teaching course and an unemployed drug addict winning a place at university

– Murna Braham of the Routes to Success project

"We are so proud of all our achievements."

Many of those who have benefited were part of the showcase at stadiummk, which included an awards ceremony.

The winner of the overall Student of the Year was 35-year-old mother-of-two Lisa Bailey, from Bradville, who began volunteering in the community before undertaking training through the Routes to Success scheme.

She has since won a contract as a paid consultant and works as a part-time supervisor with the Learning Ambassador scheme.

"I was doing my bit for the community, but wanted to progress and didn't know how. I went on the course and loved it," said Mrs Bailey.

"If you are stuck in a rut it really opens up your way of thinking and shows you what opportunities there are for you."

The winner of the Careers Advice Partnership Award was 33-year-old Chris Jackson from Newport Pagnell.

Mr Jackson was hooked on heroin for 12 years and had become a virtual recluse before going into rehab and, getting help and support to enrol on courses at Milton Keynes College.

He has now won a place at Northampton University to do a degree in Social and Community Studies, with the aim of becoming a community worker.

"The great thing about the Routes to Success programme is the continued support you receive" he said.

"I needed that encouragement and guidance to see it through and keep moving forward."

"It really has turned my life around and I would never have been able to do it alone with the support network I had."

Pet care service for elderly ill

OLDER people falling ill are being offered a service to care for their pets while they are in hospital.

The service is being run by Milton Keynes Council's adult social care department as part of a range of measures to help older people stay in their own homes longer.

The council is keen to help older people live more independent lives and this service is just one way they support residents with little or no savings to cope with pet care when they are in need of urgent medical attention.

For many residents their pets can offer companionship and they become almost a member of the family so the worry of finding somewhere for the pet to be cared for while they are ill can be an immense burden.

The social care team offer to step in to make this process easier and lift the worry from the shoulders of those older people who are already very ill themselves.

Cllr Irene Henderson, cabinet member for adult social care, said: "For many people having a pet offers comfort and companionship beyond measure."

"So knowing that this member of their family is looked after is a weight off many residents' minds allowing them to devote all their energy to getting better."

If someone needing this type of help already has an allocated social worker or mental health professional, they should contact them.

Otherwise, they should, in the case of being in hospital, telephone the Hospital Social Work Team on 243223; or, in the case of being in the community, telephone ASCAT (the Adult Social Care Access Team) on 253772/3.

Theatre thrill as Bryn takes on Falstaff role

ONE of the world's biggest opera stars is to perform at Milton Keynes Theatre.

Bryn Terfel will play Falstaff with the Welsh National Opera (WNO) from April 1-5.

The Welsh baritone had performed the role at Cardiff, Birmingham and Llandudno and his part was due to be taken over by Roberto De Candia for Milton Keynes but the replacement has had to withdraw because of illness.

The opera by Verdi is the highlight of the WNO's spring season at the theatre which includes The Magic Flute by Mozart and Eugene Onegin by Tchaikovsky.

John Fisher, WNO's general director said: "I am very sorry that Roberto has had to withdraw in the light of his success singing Dandina in our 2007 production of La Cenerentola. We wish him well and a speedy recovery."

"Evidently, we are delighted that Bryn has agreed to perform the role in Milton Keynes."

"Falstaff opened at Wales Millennium Centre in Cardiff earlier this month to outstanding reviews and it will be wonderful for audiences in Milton Keynes to experience Bryn's truly extraordinary performance in the role."

On song: Welsh baritone Bryn Terfel is set to delight audiences at MK Theatre

Drug czar appointed

Pharmacist will visit city surgeries to give guidance and info on antibiotics and their use

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

A NEW role has been created by the local health service to reduce the number of antibiotics being prescribed.

A primary care antibiotic pharmacist has been employed for a year by Milton Keynes Primary Care Trust (PCT).

The role is part of a strategy to decrease healthcare associated infections in the city.

Naomi Fleming, who has taken up the job, will visit pharmacists and GP surgeries to promote their role in educating patients to decrease patient driven prescribing.

"The aim of the Antibiotic Pharmacy Project is to influence the prescribing of antibiotics in order to minimise bacterial resistance and healthcare associated infection in primary care linked with antibiotics," she said.

“The three main messages we are trying to give patients are, accept the GP’s advice if an antibiotic is not necessary, take an antibiotic correctly if they are prescribed one and finally do not stockpile medicine, particularly antibiotics, incorrect use of which can cause an increase in resistance.”

The project will also be providing information and guidance to groups who are regular users of antibiotics, including children and the elderly, and those who administer antibiotics such as care home and community staff.

Patient education material is being printed for use in local surgeries, inpatient units and the walk in centre.

Look out for the information and posters on the Super Bugs, C Diff and MRSA to find out how you can resist them.

BEACH babe Anita Rose is calling for sponsorship to fund a study into the feasibility of her dream. The driving force behind the city's beach plan is calling for businesses to help reach her aim of raising £10,000 to pay for the study. Mrs Rose has been fighting for a beach in Milton Keynes for more than three years. If you can help call 01908 200433.

Discovery centre boss steps down

THE director of Milton Keynes City Discovery Centre has stepped down.

Dr Michael Synnott has spent 13 years in the post.

He has left the Bradwell Abbey-based charity to run Bigenoughdreams Ltd – a consultancy specialising in urban strategies and urban management.

The City Discovery Centre promotes greater appreciation and understanding of the Milton Keynes area's historical, natural and built environments.

It runs educational programmes and activities supporting all levels of learning in heritage and urban studies and the sustainable city.

It also houses an archive and image library of the area's urban development.

Dr Synnott was celebrated at a farewell dinner held at Bletchley Park last week.

His achievements include the refurbishment and modernisation of Bradwell Abbey and development services for overseas planners which now sees more than 6,000 visitors each year.

More recently he has been able to set up a collaborative project with the Open University to produce e-learning materials for distribution among England's secondary schools.

Once completed, it is anticipated that this project will make a significant contribution to the fund raising capacity of the charity.

Dr Synnott said: "Thousands of planners are still drawn to MKCDC and Milton Keynes to learn more of the sheer excitement and creativity that characterised the planning and development of the new city. For as long as MKCDC continues to tell that story it will attract talented staff and generous patrons and supporters".

Dr Michael Synnott with The Queen at the opening of the hub:MK

Studying the past can teach us about changes in climate

BY LAURA HANNAM

laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

AN OPEN University lecturer has said we should learn more about the past to predict climate change.

Professor of earth sciences Bob Spicer has cast doubt on our ability to accurately predict future changes caused by global warming.

His research, in collaboration with Professor Paul Valdes from Bristol University School of Geographical Sciences, has been published in Earth and Planetary Science Letters (March 1 2008.)

It shows that climate change is not a solely modern problem as fossilised vegetation from 65 million years ago in the late Cretaceous period reveals that central Siberia was a lot like modern-day Florida, with lush ferns and lots of rain.

Prof Spicer and colleagues examined fossilised fern leaves to estimate temperature at the time. Instead of the 0 degrees centigrade that climate models had led them to expect, the average temperature was far warmer.

Professor Spicer said: "Our understanding of climate change is anchored to the climate we have today.

"By studying extreme greenhouse climates of the past (like when the dinosaurs lived and there were virtually no polar ice caps) we have found that there is a huge mismatch between geological data and predictions from state-of-the-art climate models, similar to those used by the Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change (IPCC) to make future predictions."

He said that consequently the IPCC predictions may represent 'best case' views and, that the future change is likely to be far greater than they suggest.

Another study at the Open University is looking back 183 million years to the Early Jurassic Period for information on how the Earth reacted in the longer term to severe environmental change.

It has found that what happened on the planet during and after abrupt global warming over several hundreds of years included a significant mass extinction of species that live in the land and sea and a substantial decrease in the oxygen content of the oceans.

These initial big changes appear to have occurred at rates that are similar to those happening at the present day.

The facts they have gathered have been published in GEOL-OGY by the Geological Society of America.

It will provide essential information to help validate predictions about environmental change in the future.

Trade in old bulbs for energy savers

MILTON Keynes Council is teaming up with the local energy efficiency advice centre to stage the first ever light bulb amnesty in Milton Keynes.

This will give residents the opportunity to trade in their energy thirsty old filament light bulbs for longer-lasting, energy-saving bulbs.

Over two days in April, residents are being invited to hand over old fashioned light bulbs so they can be replaced with two free energy-saving equivalents.

The light bulb amnesty visits Central Milton Keynes Library on Tuesday, April 1 and Bletchley Library on Tuesday, April 15 from 9am until 4pm.

Advisers from the MK Energy Efficiency Advice Centre will be on hand to offer lots of advice including tips on a whole range of energy-saving measures in the home.

The bulb offer is limited to a maximum of two free energy-saving light bulbs per household.

Martin Davies, the council's carbon manager, said: "Participating in this amnesty is a great first step towards reducing your carbon footprint.

"If every household in Britain switched just one old fashioned light bulb to an energy-saving one, the electricity saved would be equivalent to the output of two power stations."

Energy-saving light bulbs use one fifth of the electricity of the old fashioned equivalent, allowing users to save up to £7 a year per bulb.

Another advantage is the long life - between 6 to 12 years under normal use which will be a real boon for all people who find changing light bulbs a chore.

Nominate a local volunteer champ

BY LAURA HANNAM

laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

A CITY MP is calling for people to vote for those who dedicate themselves to the community.

Dr Phyllis Starkey, MP for Milton Keynes South West is keen for city residents to nominate somebody who deserves a Community Champion Award.

The award, run by Nationwide Building Society and the Heritage Lottery Fund, celebrates individuals or groups who deserve recognition for community or voluntary work that has made a real difference to people's lives.

Dr Starkey said: "Volunteers make a vital difference to our communities and are hugely important."

"This award scheme is a great opportunity to celebrate the contribution of Milton Keynes' everyday heroes."

Nominations can be made for two categories including Community Champion, for those who have made an impact in their local community and, Heritage Hero for those who have volunteered to be involved in saving a part of their heritage and sharing it with others.

Winners will be chosen from across 12 regions in the UK, for young people, adults and groups.

Eighteen of these regional winners will be announced as national finalists later in the year.

A Parliamentary reception will be held for the winners in November.

The closing date for nominations is Monday, April 28.

Forms are available from all Nationwide branches and at Labour's constituency office at Labour Hall, 112 Newport Road, New Bradwell.

An on-line form can also be found at www.nationwide.co.uk

Car lease staff dress down for babies

THOUSANDS of pounds have been donated to help rebuild the neonatal unit at Milton Keynes Hospital.

So far the public has helped to raise £4,500 for the Little Lives Appeal, which aims to raise £250,000 for a full refurbishment and redesign of the unit.

This week Milton Keynes-based car leasing company, Fleet Line, raised £522 for the appeal by holding a dress-down day.

The hospital cares for more than 350 premature, small or sick babies each year.

Glenda Deacon, neonatal unit manager, said: "The demand for our specialist services is growing."

"The hospital currently has 18 cots and plans to add a further four high dependency cots."

"A complete refurbishment is needed to increase capacity to 22 cots, and allow equipment to be upgraded."

Royal trip for St John cadets

TWO youngsters from St John Ambulance will be special guests of The Princess Royal at Buckingham Palace today.

Kim O'Bryne of Newport Pagnell will be congratulated for gaining her Grand Prior Award. Also attending on the day will be Lord Lieutenant's and County Cadet of the Year Abigayle McCue.

The Grand Prior Award is the highest recognition cadets can achieve within St John Ambulance.

It marks at least three years of sustained effort studying eight different areas from communications and working in the community, to the history of the organisation.

Each area includes a range of activities, such as games, project work, role-plays and debates.

Every county is invited to select two Grand Prior Award recipients to attend this prestigious event. Around 150 cadets were due to attend the palace, representing St John Ambulance from across the country.

Kim O'Bryne, 20, who is a member of Wolverton Division said: "I was in the guard of honour when The Queen and Prince Phillip attended the official opening of our headquarters in November.

"To have a second opportunity to meet another member of the royal family is amazing.

"Due to St John Ambulance I started working as a healthcare assistant at Milton Keynes General Hospital and I am now in my second year of nurse training.

Sixteen-year-old Abigayle, a member of Wolverton Division, said: "I joined St John Ambulance just before my 13th birthday because I felt the organisation would give me an insight into a career in medicine.

"I am looking forward to representing Buckinghamshire as County Cadet of the Year and meeting Princess Anne."

Kendal Samuels, principal youth officer for Buckinghamshire and Milton Keynes, said: "The Grand Prior Award reflects three years of hard work so we are extremely proud of all our cadets who attain it and are delighted to be sending Abigayle and Kim to this prestigious event.

"We are delighted to be sending them to such a prestigious event and hope that they thoroughly enjoy the experience."

Volunteers from St John Ambulance can frequently be seen in the community, providing first aid support at venues including the National Bowl and Stantonbury Athletics Track.

The organisation also delivers first aid training courses for businesses and individuals throughout the region.

Nursing home plans opposed

PLANS to convert a hotel in Woburn Sands into a nursing home are due to be thrown out by the council, following protests from local people.

Proposals to convert and extend Greens Hotel, in Russell Street, into a 50-bed nursing home for the elderly are to be discussed by Milton Keynes Council's development control committee on Thursday March 27.

The application also includes plans to build 36 close care apartments and to demolish the existing bowls club and social club to make way for a new tennis clubhouse.

The bowls club would be relocated to land at Common Farm, Aspley Guise.

An officers report due to be presented to councillors on Thursday has recommended the application be refused as the new bowls facility would be in a less accessible location, out of Woburn Sands town centre.

Objections have been received from Woburn Sands Town Council, Aspley Heath Parish Council, Woburn Sands Business and Community Association, and Woburn Sands District Society.

Asplands Medical Centre said that all of the doctors feel "very strongly that this type of facility would put a tremendous burden on the surgery at a time when there is increasing patient population due to recent housing development."

A petition with 306 signatures has also been submitted objecting to the development alongside 155 letters. Three letters were received by the council in support of the proposals.

Concerns include that the development is too big, that current and future bowls club members will have to travel further, and that the loss of the hotel would impact on the shops and businesses in the area.

Rail study signals E-W link viability

BY LAURA HANNAM

laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

A NEW report has confirmed that there is a strong business case for constructing the East West Railway.

The study was commissioned and funded by Milton Keynes Partnership on behalf of the East West Rail Consortium.

It has been prepared by a group of consultants bringing together specialists in transport and financial appraisal, civil engineering and railway operations.

The specialists have confirmed that there is a strong business and operating case for a new network of railway lines and train services linking Milton Keynes to Oxford, Aylesbury and Bedford by 2012.

Jane Hamilton, chief operating officer of Milton Keynes Partnership, said: "The South East Plan describes East West Rail as regionally significant transport infrastructure and this important study has now provided us with valuable evidence that the western section can and should be done."

"Milton Keynes Partnership is committed to taking the lead role in progressing and financing the project through to its next phase, in close partnership with the East West Rail Consortium."

The next phase of development would include an outline design of the rail infrastructure to be produced.

With the necessary support and funding from all of the appropriate parties it is expected that the procurement process for this next phase could begin by early May.

Lead role: Jane Hamilton

Book fills the gap after losing a pet

THE loss of a pet can hit people hard as can the loss of any close friend.

For many pet owners their dog or cat is far more than just an animal: companion, comfort, confidante, even a reason to get up in the morning.

For anyone grieving the loss of a pet, or facing up to having a pet put down, Losing a Pet, published by Small Books, aims to fill the gap.

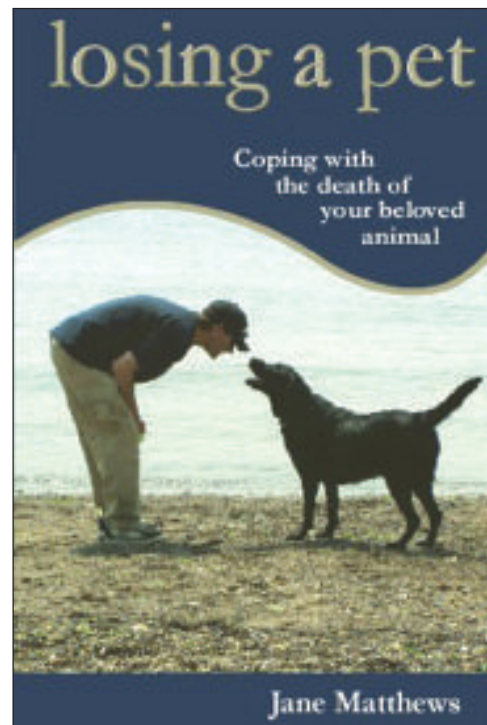

This short book offers practical guidance, emotional support and, above all, reassurance that there is nothing unusual in experiencing such strong feelings.

Since its publication last month the book has sold to veterinary surgeries, pet crematoria and to animal charities as far afield as Tasmania in Australia. Kevin Spurgeon, chair of the Association of Private Pet Cemeteries and Crematoria, described it as 'one of the best publications of its kind to date'.

Bristol vet Nicky Bromhall said her surgery is now offering the book to every bereaved pet owner.

Local author Jane Matthews is has written a series of successful titles on making better relationships, and of The Carer's Handbook (HowtoBooks 2006 and 2007).

Losing a Pet is the first title to be issued by her own publishing company, Small Books.

Losing a Pet is the first title to be issued by local author Jane Matthews' publishing company, Small Books

Jane said: "Small Books is about providing first aid for feelings. I'm a huge fan of self help books but we don't always need, or have time to read, vast tomes!"

"Over the coming months we'll be publishing a range of affordable titles that people can reach for in a crisis. And, like this book, they'll be written in a style that's warm and direct."

Losing a Pet is available from Borders Milton Keynes and direct from the publishers www.small-books.co.uk

MUSIC REVIEWS

CLOCK EP

Simian Mobile Disco

WELL now, here's something I don't get to review too often – a four track EP consisting entirely of instrumental tracks. Actually, come to think of it, I'm not sure I've ever reviewed anything like that before. First time for everything, I suppose. Of course, this means that I won't be able to have a go at the singer for sounding bored and I certainly won't be able to criticise the lyrics for being childish, so all that really leaves me with are the tunes themselves, and do you know what? – they're not bad. The title track's a bit dreamy, but in a nice way, Simple is anything but – it changes direction a couple of times (and it's also far better than Clock in my opinion), 3 Pin Din is a messy, squelchy, acid house wannabe and State Of Things, despite being the most out-and-out dancey track, is still streets ahead of most dance music around at the moment. All in all then, pretty good.

GHOSTS I-V

Nine Inch Nails (album)

It only seems like yesterday that Year Zero was hitting the shops, but here we are with a brand new Nine Inch Nails album. See, if you've got the fanbase behind you and the bottle to do it, nowadays you can let your recording contract expire and go off and do whatever you want to do. Commercialism be damned – the only person you have to answer to now is yourself. No more suits saying 'Could you make that song a little happier?' or 'If we chuck some sleighbells on it, we can release it in time for Christmas', no, now you can release things as you want them to be released, and if that means you want to release a two hour album consisting of thirty-six instrumentals, then that is precisely what's going to happen. And that's precisely what has happened. I suppose the best way to describe this is as a series of four soundtracks for films that will never be made, the reason being that the tracks are split into four equal sections (the Ghosts I-IV of the title) and are otherwise un-named save for the track number (so 27 Ghosts III is the 27th track on the album and part of the Ghosts III section). Even though the tracks don't feature any singing, there's still a huge amount of variety, from ethereal, dreamy landscapes to full-on jumping-on-your-head music, and as the average running time comes to under three minutes, if a song comes along that you don't like then you won't have to wait long for another. Now, I actually thought the distinct lack of Trent Reznor's vocal contributions was going to be a major drawback, but oddly enough that's not the case. The songs are structured in such a way that the vast majority of them wouldn't work if someone was singing over the top, and the short running times also help. These aren't songs that were left unfinished before the lyrics could be added, they're more like bizarre experiments (15 Ghosts II is particularly experimental, with the emphasis on 'mental'). Moreover, these tracks haven't been simply chucked out onto the Internet, oh no, if you pay the $5 for the full set (that's around £2.50 in real money at the current exchange rate, or you can download Ghosts I on its own for free), you get the tracks in a higher-quality format than Radiohead's In Rainbows arrived in, plus a 40-page PDF booklet and some desktop wallpapers as well, which is rather generous to say the least. This is not really something you can dip in and out of, but as a complete experience it's rather good. It's nice to hear something that's both weird AND wonderful.

SPRINGCONCERT

DANESBOROUGH Chorus Spring Concert takes place on Saturday at Woburn Parish Church.

The concert, conducted by Ian Smith, promises to be a superb performance of Rossini's Petite Messe Solennelle in its original version, with piano and harmonium accompaniment.

And its authenticity will be further enhanced by the use of an original period harmonium made by Debain, similar to the one used in the first performance.

Once claiming he could set a laundry list to music, Rossini had an amazing facility for composition and is rightly famous for his enormous contribution to the Italian operatic repertoire in 19 years, he wrote some 36 operas from The Barber of Seville to William Tell. Although he largely gave up composing in his later years, he produced two important pieces of sacred music including the Petite Messe Solennelle.

The soloists will be Claire Seaton (soprano), Claire Henry (mezzo-soprano), Stephen Liley (tenor) and Robert Poulton (bass), with the choir and soloists accompanied by pianists John Byron and Ann Martin-Davis, and Paul Edwards on the harmonium.

Tickets are priced £15, £10 (reserved) and £6 (unreserved). Ccall the Choir Box Office, tel: 01908 583460, or visit website http://www.danesborough.org.uk

PARKLIFE

These parks are made for walking

WHETHER you're looking for a gentle stroll or more energetic hike, there are countless fantastic parks to explore around Milton Keynes.

People love the greenery of the city but how often do you get out and explore the parks on your doorstep?

Milton Keynes' parks have many hidden gems providing an opportunity for quiet contemplation, to watch wildlife, discover historical places or simply to live more healthily by getting some fresh air and taking a stroll.

Walking is one of the most natural and effective forms of exercise. Not only does it put you in touch with your local park and the natural environment, walking is an activity which all the family can enjoy together.

You don't have to stick to just one park many of our parks are interconnected by leisure routes and bridleways so that you don't need to cross any busy roads just continue to the next park. In fact there's really no excuse not to get out and about as no one in Milton Keynes is ever more than half a mile from a park ensuring that walking can become part of your every-day routine.

If you're new to walking, the area or just fancy some company, why not join one of the many guided walks which take place in our parks all year round.

■ On every other Sunday morning you can enjoy a Wagtail Walk taking in the fresh air, the scenery and the wildlife around water in Milton Keynes.

The next walk is at North Willen Lake, Sunday, March 23, 11am.

■ "Try the Woman's Walking Network which meets monthly and does a short walk at different Milton Keynes locations.

■ Join one of the walks looking at the changing seasons. Next month's walk is a Bluebell Walk at Linford Wood, Sunday, April 27, 10am-12pm.

Alternatively if you want to discover your parks on your own try visiting Milton Keynes' Cathedral of Trees – this year an extra 45,000 daffodil bulbs have been planted in and around the cathedral and should make a spectacular display for an Easter walk.

■ Find a park near you by visiting www.theparkstrust.com

MKBOWL

HIP hop legend Jay-Z and rockers Linkin Park are to perform a massive gig at The Bowl.

The rapper will line up alongside the US band on Sunday, June 29 for the first gig at the venue since Robbie Williams visited in September 2006.

Rumours are already building that an entourage of celebrities will follow Jay-Z to the Bowl after his headline performance at Glastonbury just 24 hours earlier.

His girlfriend Beyonce and friend

Kanye West are set to make a surprise appearance at Glasto and could also form part of a 65,000 capacity crowd at Milton Keynes' grass amphitheatre.

The rapper-rocker combo will team up to play their 'Projekt Revolution' for the first time in the UK, after years of touring America.

Already reaching legendary status in the US, Projekt Revolution has always defied the conventional, delivering cutting edge and revolutionary artists including the likes of My Chemical Romance, Ghostface Killah, Korn and Snoop Dogg on the same bill.

Tickets costing £45 each are expected to sell out within hours.

This very special one off show will be headlined by Linkin Park and will include a full live set from the incredible Jay-Z.

■ Tickets are now on sale via a 24-Hour hotline on 08444 775 775 or online at www.aeglive.co.uk

Until the end of May, you'll have the chance to win an MK Dons shirt, signed by some of the team's top players. The shirt is on display in the restaurant now, so get down there and have a look! “A lot of people want recognition for what they do, with Taylors the rewards are out there if you work hard and have the right ethos

laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

TAYLORS' success, despite the recent slow property market, is down to the way they train and reward their staff, according to a senior manager.

The estate agent, which has 40 branches across the region, only recruits managers by promoting existing staff and offers extensive on the job training for new employees.

Senior manager Vanessa Hill said this means staff are well trained 'in-house' and provide excellent customer service.

And this is to be thanked for a rise in Taylors property sales, despite the recent slump in the market.

In 2006 their offices across Milton Keynes sold 1,758 properties. This rose to 1,786 in 2007.

"This is while we see a lot of estate agents closing down," said Mrs Hill.

As a result Taylors is still expanding its services, opening up a new branch in Morrisons supermarket at Westcroft and a new Residential Lettings department at their branch in Central Milton Keynes.

Mrs Hill is herself an example of how staff can shoot up through the ranks at Taylors if they work hard enough and show the right qualities.

She joined Taylors fresh from university having no previous experience in the industry.

"I wanted a challenging and rewarding career and I love working with people," she said.

"I also wanted to work with a company that pushes me."

She started selling houses for Taylors as a junior negotiator at the Newport Pagnell branch in December 1997.

She began with an intensive week-long training course and three months later was moved to the branch in Bletchley for further experience.

After six months she was promoted to become a senior negotiator and within two years became the branch manager at Wolverton.

She has since been promoted to senior manager and now runs

Taylor's flag-ship office in Central Milton Keynes.

She said the fact Taylors only recruit their managers by promoting existing staff makes employees feel valued, gives them exciting prospects and means they provide a better service to customers.

"A lot of people want recognition for what they do, with Taylors the rewards are out there if you work hard and have the right ethos," she said.

"All of the 11 branch managers working for Taylors have been promoted up the ranks."

"The current branch manager at our Wolverton office moved from a junior negotiator to his current position in only eight months."

"They also give you daily coaching with a manager throughout, giving staff guidance on how to look after sellers and vendors and the importance of returning calls, etc."

"I am 100 per cent certain this means we provide better customer service," she said.

Taylors offers all property services under one roof, which means you only have to make one phone call whether you are buying, selling or letting a house.

This includes mortgage services, property lawyers, dedicated sales progressors – who take the sale through to completion – auctioneers and surveyors.

This means it is all as stress free and as simple as possible.

The estate agent also offers unbeatable coverage with over 40 branches marketing property across the South East.

"And while some people may be worried that they lose the personal touch by using such a big organisation, our marketing managers have their own areas and will be with you right to the end of sale," added Mrs Hill.

To find out more, or if you are selling or looking to buy a property, call Taylors on 678151.

The estate agent is also recruiting sales negotiators and mortgage consultants. Call Vanessa Hill on the number above to apply.

– Vanessa Hill, senior manager, who runs Taylor's flag-ship office in Central Milton Keynes and joined the company fresh from university having no previous experience in the industry

Preparing kids for working life

BY LAURA HANNAM

laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

EMPLOYERS are to help young people develop the skills they need in the workplace as part of a new initiative.

Milton Keynes' education business partnership, Countec, has launched a new programme which aims to double the number of employers engaged with education.

The Business Ambassador (BA) programme involves local companies and business professionals going into schools to help young people aged between 14 and 16 prepare for life in the workplace.

Enterprise project manager Ade Winfindale said: "We need business volunteers to support our events which provide young people with opportunities through which they can develop their skills and understanding of work."

The initiative's launch event attracted companies from across the different sectors, including retail, leisure and tourism, media, public services, and finance.

Tom Bulman, general manager of Countec EBP added: "Recent surveys show employers feel there is a skills and attitude gap to be addressed and Education Business Link activity is an important part of the solution."

Countec EBP is a social enterprise working to improve employability and enterprise skills in Milton Keynes.

The team works by linking educators and businesses in partnerships to provide quality work-related learning experiences aimed at developing young people.

They work with 1,000 employers and 3,000 young people from all Milton Keynes' schools each year.

TNT depot delivers on carbon reduction

THE super-green employees at TNT Milton Keynes have proved that they can deliver the goods when the express delivery giant enhanced its 'green' credentials by gaining an acclaimed environmental standard at the first attempt.

The ISO14001 accreditation is an official acknowledgement that TNT, is making significant strides towards reducing its carbon footprint and CO2 emissions.

The Milton Keynes depot, at Northfield Drive, was put through a tough critical examination by Lloyds Register Quality Assurance (LRQA), with assessors conducting checks on the company's environmental management activities. These included waste reduction and recycling, fuel efficiency, environmental training, pollution control and energy reduction.

Darren Batty, depot general manager, said: "We are the only express and logistics operator to achieve this certification on a company-wide basis, and the first to hold both ISO 14001 and OHSAS 18001 (Health & Safety) standards at the same time."

"The transport industry generates 20 per cent of the world's carbon dioxide emissions, and as express industry leaders, TNT contributes to that output. We want to pave the way in reducing our carbon footprint and lead by example. This is a tremendous achievement but it's not just about winning awards - it's about doing the right thing."

Denis Ives, UK Business Centre manager, at assessors LRQA, said: "TNT is the only parcel and mail distribution company to achieve this certification. Achieving ISO14001 is recognition of the hard work, preparation and teamwork that Milton Keynes TNT has put in - not only gain the accreditation but to ensure customers still receive the quality of service they pay for."

Cigarette breaks a drag

ACCORDING to a recent report the average UK smoker spends almost a year of their life on taking cigarette breaks at work.

The survey conducted by global research company www.onepoll.com revealed that smokers who take three 15 minute smoking breaks a day, cost employers 195 working hours a year.

Even the smoking ban, which states that employers cannot have indoor or enclosed smoking areas - hasn't helped to reduce the number of employees smoking.

A staggering 69 per cent of workers continue to light up, but now travel even further from their desks to find a convenient place to do so.

Nearly half of the smokers polled (45 per cent) feel annoyed that they are forced to smoke outside - either at work or outside pubs, clubs and restaurants.

And a quarter of smokers feel conscious and victimised, feeling that people are watching them loiter on street corners with a cigarette.

John Sewell, spokesman for www.onepoll.com said: "Giving up smoking is difficult for anyone, but there is an added pressure when peers and work colleagues are puffing away at regular intervals."

The average smoker has given up at least twice, but then started again despite being clean of nicotine for an average of three months on each occasion.

The survey cited that people tend to give up smoking in the first place due to deteriorating health (58 per cent), the cost of cigarettes (14 per cent) and an intolerant partner (8 per cent).

Most common reasons for starting up again include enjoying it too much (37 per cent), giving in to the first urge (7 per cent), work colleagues (24 per cent) and the inability to have a drink without a cigarette (8 per cent).

Mr Sewell added: The results of this poll will be annoying for employers, who are essentially paying people to puff away.

"And it will also irritate non-smokers, who wouldn't get away with taking three 15 minute coffee breaks every day."

MK MOTORING

Lexus IS-F – eight-gear super shifter

TRYING to go where the BMW M3 and the Mercedes C63 AMG currently reside is the transparent mission of the Lexus IS-F and, on paper, it looks to have the tools for the job.

With a 417bhp V8 up front, the IS-F is no makeweight but simple badge equity may still count against it.

The specification sheet for the Lexus IS-F looks promising enough, with 417bhp from its 5.0-litre V8, it pips the BMW M3 and the old Audi RS4 by 3bhp but has to give best in the power stakes to the mighty Mercedes C63 AMG. No great surprises there.

The engine is a development of the unit found under the bonnet of the LS460 limousine.

Titanium intake valves, lightweight hollow camshafts, and an extra oil pump to keep the moving parts slippery during extreme cornering manoeuvres improve what was already an impressive motor.

The headline figures are par for class, the IS-F stomping to 60mph in 4.3 seconds and on to an electronically limited top speed of 170mph.

Of perhaps more interest is the way it does so, and a key element of this is the gearbox.

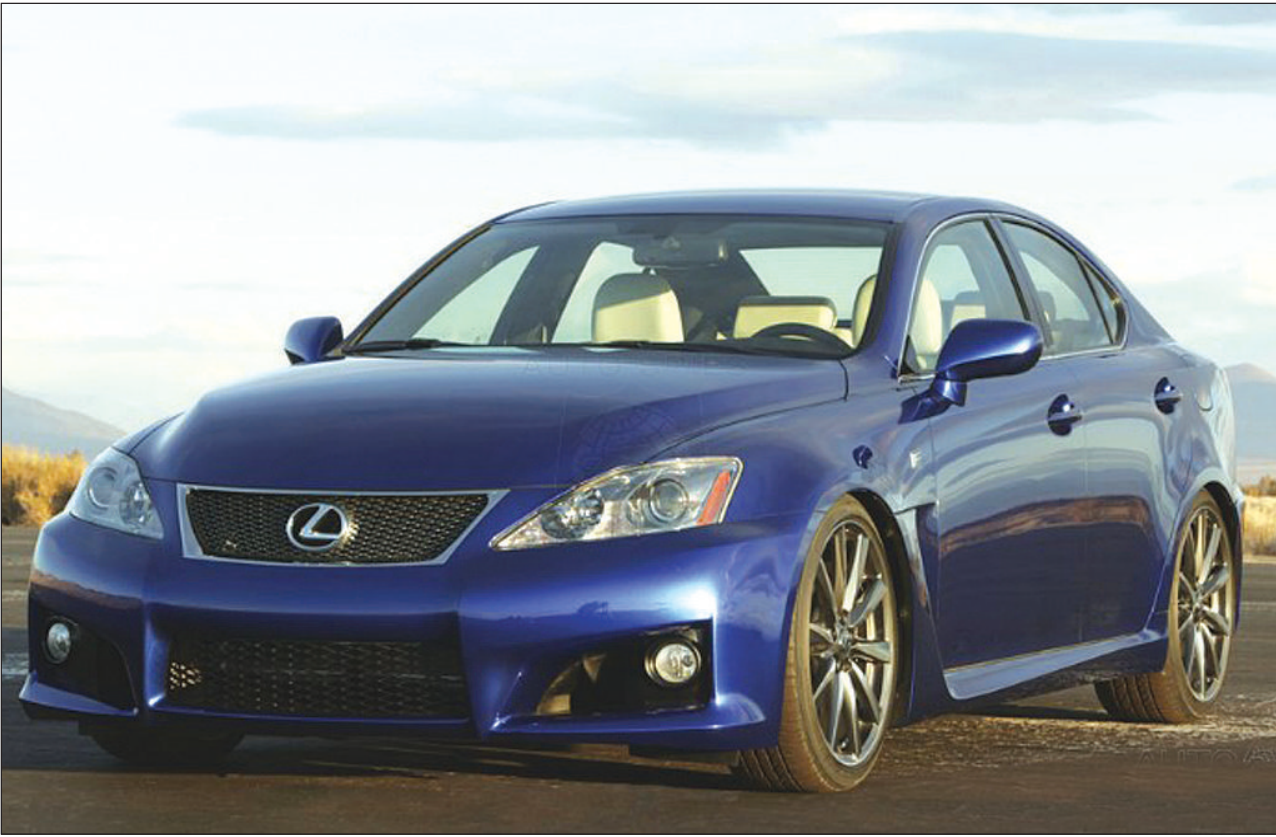

While many enthusiasts will stop reading now, the Lexus' automatic gearbox is something quite intriguing. With eight forward speeds and a manual mode that offers quicker upshifts than the Ferrari F1 automated manual box, the 'sport direct shift' is no longer a lazy lugger.

One body style and one engine.

IS-F customers aren't going to be bewildered by choice but they certainly may be left stroking their chin when their friendly dealer comes up with a figure against which they will be expected to sign.

At £51,000 on the road, the IS-F is more expensive than a BMW M3 Coupe.

For more information on any of the Lexus' products visit Lexus Milton Keynes at Alston Road, Bradwell Abbey, Milton Keynes, MK13 9HA. Tel: 01908 682 400 or visit their website at www.lexus.co.uk/miltonkeynes

Red Bull's boys ready to rumble

THE eagerly anticipated new Formula One season starts all over again this weekend in Australia.

And Red Bull Racing are hoping this year will be better than ever.

The Milton Keynes racing outfit has their most successful season in 2007 with fifth place in the Constructors Championship and drivers David Coulthard and Mark Webber finishing 10th and 12th respectively in the Drivers' Championship.

At the ripe age of 36 Coulthard will once again be the veteran of the pack, while Webber, 32, continues as his Red Bull team mate.

It is hoped the RB4, designed by Adrian Newey, can provide the team with a real chance of challenging for fourth place behind Ferrari, McLaren and Renault.

Early signs are positive yet new rules in the sport could test the racing side's progress to the maximum.

Teams are now required to make gearboxes last four consecutive Grand Prix meetings, or risk a five place penalty, in a bid to improve reliability and cut costs.

All eleven teams must use a standardised, FIA-approved electronic control units and cars participating in the third qualifying stage no longer get back the fuel used in the session.

The ban on traction control, which prevents the rear wheels spinning if a driver applies too much power, has caused the most uproar.

While any device or system which would notify drivers of the onset of wheel spin is also not permitted.

■ The Australian Grand Prix is live on ITV 1 on Sunday at 3pm.

Twin wins see Lions stay fourth

INJURY-HIT Lions stayed fourth place in the BBL League following a winning weekend.

The Lions, missing Tony Windless, Shawn Jamison and Ronnie Baker, put on what coach Vince Macauley described as a "superb team performance" to overcome Leicester Riders and Cheshire Jets.

Despite Mike New opening the scoring on Friday it was Leicester who had a 23-24 first quarter lead through Steve Vear's eight point rally.

The visitors could only maintain their lead for two minutes as a Yorick Williams three-pointer sparked a 9-0 burst for the Lions, yet the Raiders stayed close trailing 45-47 at the half.

But that was the closest the Riders would come as the Lions' defence showed their bullish nature to concede 11 points while the advantage was extended to 71-56.

Kevin Griffin, Peter Heizer and New combined in the final quarter to stretch the lead further before the Lions went on an 11-0 burst, leaving the Riders scoreless in the last four minutes, to wrap up the points.

On Sunday, the Lions trailed Cheshire Jets for the majority of the match but hit their purple patch when it mattered to claim their second victory of the weekend.

Terrell Brown netted a three-pointer to start proceedings yet the Jets pulled ahead with a 19-5 run before the shell-shocked Lions managed to claw back into contention with five points separating the sides at the break.

Robert Youngblood then tied the score at 23 with five points to his name and the sides continued to exchange basket throughout as the game was tied 44-44 at half-time.

The Jets pushed the lead out once more in the third period as Gianni Costantiello and James Hamilton had four points each in a 12-3 run that made the score 56-47.

However, Williams' triple contributed to the Lions scoring the last six points of the quarter and they were 68-62 down going into the decisive period.

The Lions took their first lead since the opening exchanges as a Williams three-pointer made it 81-82.

The Jets kept the game close and it was 84-85 before the Lions closed out the last minute with Brown and Spinks holding their nerve from the free-throw line.

MK Lions have a week off before hosting London Capital on Friday, March 21.

Attack pays off for bold Lightning

MK Lightning have chance to rescue a disappointing season following their progress through to the Knockout Cup final.

Another fine display against Guildford Flames ensued Lightning went through to the final where they will take on Peterborough Phantoms.

With a 6-3 score line in Lightning's favour all they had to do was keep Guildford at bay for 60 minutes.

But Nick Poole's side opted for attacking tactics which paid off as Gary Clarke got them off to the perfect start striking just 28 seconds into the first period.

Exactly twenty minutes later Guildford found their reply through Vinny Zavoral just as they looked set to fight their way back the good work was undone as ill discipline saw the side reduced by two an Lightning took advantage as Greg Randell and Mikko Skinari put them 3-1 ahead.

Clarke extended Lightning's lead on the 32nd minute before Taras Foremsky hit back with just three minutes remaining in the second period.

Ales Parez is closed down by the Chelmsford defence as he moves in on goal Picture Jez Tibbetts

Rick Plant found the back of the net on the 48th minute, yet Toni Alasaarela had the final say as he ended Guildford's hopes with a strike nine minutes later.

Alasaarela's goal ensured Lightning won 5-3 on the day and 11-6 on aggregate.

The first leg of the Knockout final takes place on Tuesday, March 18 at Peterborough and the return leg is on Thursday, March 20, face-off is at 7.45pm.

Away from the cup competition Lightning had a mixed weekend in the EPL League with a win and one defeat.

A storming performance led by Clarke, who scored four goals, saw Lightning beat Chelmsford 8-2 and secure their first league win in seven.

Clarke had his hat-trick wrapped up midway through the second period while Adam Carr, Kurt Irvine, Ales Parez and Matt Towalski added the rest.

Sunday's pairing against Bracknell Bees proved to be one too many as Lightning were dealt a 7-1 loss.

The Bees were six goals before Alasaarela pulled a consolation back five minutes from time.

The two point weekend means Lightning are still sixth in the league.

NEWPORT PAGNELL TOWN grabbed a point from Desborough Town following their 2-2 draw in the United Counties premier division.

OLNEY TOWN'S run without a win extended to seven games but they did manage a goalless draw at Huntingdon Town.

Local rugby

OLNEY'S lead at the top of Southern Counties north division has been cut to one point.

A defeat 14-25 defeat to Slough has allowed Wallingford to gain ground the Olney side.

It started brightly for Olney as Steve Gunter gathered a chip over the top and from his defence they broke on attack with Will Edwards running up field to offload for Rhys Peakman who shrugged of a challenge to score a converted try.

A penalty minutes before a try from the scrum half saw Slough take the lead for the first time in the game.

On the return to play Slough used made their dominance in the forwards count by securing a line-out and sending the winger off to score in the corner.

Slough extended their lead with further penalties before Gunter pulled a converted try but it was not enough to prevent Olney from falling to only their third defeat of the season.

Sean O'Hanlon gets up to head the Dons winner

Roll up for a Dons rollercoaster ride

BY SIMONE CORGAN

simone.corgan@mk-news.co.uk

A DRESS rehearsal for the Johnstone's Paint Trophy final resulted in a 1-0 win to MK Dons.

A far from thrilling game at Blundell Park would have done little to inspire the neutrals, but it was a result the Dons would happily take at Wembley at the end of the month.

Sean O'Hanlon's header on the ninth minute was all that separated the two sides although the Dons had forced the Mariners' goalkeeper into action more times than the relatively untroubled Willy Gueret.

The victory meant the Dons went back to the top before being knocked off the following day when Peterborough beat Dagenham and Redbridge.

With the top spot in League Two continuing to change after almost every game Dons boss Paul Ince has warned fans and players: "It's going to be a rollercoaster."

"But it's a cruel game and we could have easily come away with just a point. It's not easy coming here, they're a good side and it's never easy to come and grind a result out. They had a couple of chances in the last five minutes, but on the balance of play we were by far the better side. In the last five minutes they could easily have got a point out of the game. Defensively we were solid and, on the balance of it, I'm happy with the points."

The Mariners could argue that they were without top goal scorer Danny North, but so too were the Dons who still have Mark Wright on the treatment table for his hamstring while inspirational skipper and League Two player of the year Keith Andrews served the last of a two match ban for ten bookings.

Grimsby struggled in the early stages to cope with the changing formation of the Dons but in particular it was Colin Cameron who proved a menace early on.

The breakthrough the Dons had been gunning for came via a well placed corner from Cameron's boot.

O'Hanlon rose in the box to make a strong connection with the in swinger, a desperate Danny Boshall tried to clear but the linesman and referee both agreed the header had crossed the line.

The closest Grimsby came to an equaliser in the first half was 18 minutes in when Tom Newey's long free-kick from the right forced Willy Gueret into action, but it was a comfortable collection for the Dons goalkeeper.

The Dons could have taken a two goal lead in at half-time but a stretching save by Phil Barnes denied on-loan striker John Miles' low shot.

A better second half from the home side ensured the Dons were made to plug away and stagger Grimsby's chances.

Jemal Johnson's pace and trickery frightened the back line, something he used to his advantage by beating three defenders but his good work failed to test Barnes as the shot hit the side netting.

For all their effort the Mariners could not find their way through to goal, Jamie Clarke's free-kick from 25-yards skimmed just past the post.

Deep in injury time Grimsby went agonisingly close to stealing a point when Nick Fenton got on the end of Gary Jones' perfect cross, yet somehow Gueret managed to knock the ball away and in doing so ensure the Dons left Grimsby with three points in the bag.

PREVIEW

DAGENHAM & REDBRIDGE

League Two

Saturday, March 15. KO 3pm

stadiummk

FIGHTING their way out of the relegation scrap Dagenham and Redbridge have pulled off a series of good results. Prior to their narrow 3-2 defeat to promotion-hunting Peterborough the Daggers had won five on the bounce, including a stunning 6-2 win over Chester.

That winning run could just have saved the Daggers from bouncing straight back out of the Football League.

With the top three pushing away from the play-off hopefuls every game from now would appear to be a must win for the Dons.

But Paul Ince's side have been dealt a huge blow in the form of Alan Navarro's two match ban following his tenth booking of the season last week at Grimsby.

The tough tackling midfielder is set to be replaced by Jordan Hadfield.

DONS shot stopper Willy Gueret has been named in the League Two Team of the Week.

The 34-year-old has kept three clean sheets in the Dons' last four league games, in which they have collected 12 points.

Team of the Week in full: Willy Gueret (MK Dons), Trent McClenahan (Hereford), Ben Futcher (Bury), Rory McArdle (Rochdale), Simon Spender (Wrexham), Simon Johnson (Hereford), Gary Jones (Rochdale), Lloyd Kerry (Chesterfield), Scott Griffiths (Dag and Red), Jack Lester (Chesterfield), Craig Mackail-Smith (Peterborough).

MK Dons have the best away record in the entire Football League.

Fourteen wins on the road have played a huge part in the Dons' stay in the automatic promotion place.

They have also contributed to an astonishing record League Two is set to break. For the first time in the League's 120-year history a single division is set to record more away wins than home wins.

On Monday night the 2007/08 League Two season had seen clubs rack-up a total of 173 victories on the road compared to 154 wins on home turf.

MK DONS - WE'RE ON OUR WAY TO WEMBLEY

RED is most definitely the colour.

At least it will be for MK Dons when they take on Grimsby Town in the Johnstone's Paint Trophy final on Sunday, March 30.

The Dons will take to the Wembley turf in their red shirts, red shorts and red socks while the Mariners are set to wear their traditional black and white stripes.

The Dons opted for their second kit to avoid a colour clash on the big day.

On the shirt the Johnstone's Paint Trophy logo will appear on the sleeves, while "Wembley 08" will be stitched just under the MK Dons badge.

UP to 10,000 extra tickets for the Johnstone's Paint final are set to go on sale soon.

The initial 26,000 tickets, which went on sale to season ticket holders three days before being released on general sale, sold out on Sunday.

And with Wembley fever gripping Milton Keynes the extra allocation are also set to be snapped up.

ASSISTANT boss Ray Mathias was delighted to hear that almost 30,000 fans will be supporting the Dons on the day. "It's absolutely fantastic," he added, "The gates have improved each game and to get 30,000 people it just shows how respected the Milton Keynes Dons are now and I think that's important. "It's a bonus for the football club."

CAR parking at Wembley stadium on the day will cost £25 per vehicle and coach parking is £40 per vehicle both must be booked in advance.

Log on to www.csparking.com/stadium to book your spot.

FANS can see the Johnstone's Paint Trophy at Midsummer Place on Thursday at 11.30am-7pm.

MK DONS v CHESTERFIELD MONDAY, MARCH 10

Away the lads are best in the League

BY SIMONE CORGAN

simone.corgan@mk-news.co.uk

TEN more nail-biting games to go.

The end of the season is getting ever closer with the final match not far on the horizon.

However, as far as MK Dons are concerned it is one game at a time as they keep up their chase not just for promotion but for the League Two title.

Another game was ticked off on Monday and it was another three vital points secured by the Dons.

In Chesterfield the Dons faced a team with the second highest goal scoring record at home, behind Peterborough, but they had only won seven games at Saltergate.

And the Dons' away record is phenomenal with 14 wins and three draws to their name it is the best in the entire Football League.

While the rest of Britain was tucked away hiding from the strong winds the Dons and Spirites went head to head live on SKY.

An absorbing battle in midfield, and against the swirling weather conditions, was the main talking point of the first half as neither side offered much up front.

Of the limited chances, the better ones fell to the Spirites as their captain Peter Leven went close with a curling free-kick that skimmed the outside of the left post, while a low drive from Jamie Winter was stopped by Willy Gueret.

The Dons scrapped away and it was through their first real shot on target that they took the lead.

Three minutes before the break Keith Andrews took advantage of some suspect defending as he ghosted into the left of the box to simply tap-in Alan Navarro's cross.

Perhaps a little fortunate to be a goal up at half-time, as the two sides were evenly matched, but it was the Dons who had been able to convert their chance when it mattered.

Chesterfield's deadly striker Jack Lester, who has scored 25 goals this season, had been disappointing although did occasionally sparkle with breaks.

It was the introduction of his strike partner, Jamie Ward, that added the edge Chesterfield were lacking. His dazzling runs were creating avenues yet the Dons' defence were in a bullish mood and quick to close him down.

Aaron Wilbraham is congratulated by Keith Andrews after he set up the winner

Lester went close to providing the Spirites with a route back as his cross into the box dragged just beyond the reach of on-running Lloyd Kerry.

Chesterfield did get back on level terms through a Jamie Lawry strike. The midfielder scrapped away and sent a right-footed shot into the back of the net.

At first glance it was an unstoppable effort, but it had picked up a wicked deflection from Danny Swailes leaving Gueret rooted in goal.

Lee Richardson's side's celebrations were cut dramatically short when Andrews' diagonal cross down the right was collected by Lloyd Dyer.

Dyer shared a quick one-two with substitute Aaron Wilbraham who sent a cheeky back heel back into Dyer's path and the winger squeezed the winning goal into the bottom corner.

The 2-1 win reverses the Dons' defeat to the Spirites at stadiummk back in November and extends their unbeaten run to eight in the league.

David Graham

On-trial striker has bags of experience

PAUL Ince is casting his eye over potential loan signings as the business end of the season approaches.

With a long campaign taking its toll on players, injuries creeping in and plenty of important matches coming thick and fast the Dons boss is keeping his eyes peeled.

Former Wigan Athletic striker David Graham and Liverpool youngster Charlie Barnet are currently on trail with the Dons and both featured in a reserve friendly against Peterborough United two weeks ago.

Barnet, a 19-year-old midfielder has been a keen part of Liverpool's youth team in recent weeks.

Ince said: "Charlie's been here for the three or four weeks, but he is still under contract with Liverpool. He's obviously looking to come to other clubs to try and get some first team football.

"He's done well, obviously he is not match fit at the moment because he hasn't been training for the last month or so with Liverpool.

"We'll have a look at him, he's a young kid and he's got a lot of learning to do but he's doing okay."

Yet, if it is experience Ince is after then he has it in abundance in 29-year-old Graham.

Having helped Wigan gain promotion to the Premier League in 2005, he joined Sheffield Wednesday where he was loaned out on three occasions but made 24 appearances in two years.

Most recently Graham spent time with League One side Gillingham and was released at the end of January.

"He's got nice touches on the ball," Ince added, "another one whose a bit short of fitness so it's just a case of trying to get them into our tempo, our high intensity that we work out and see if they can cope with it.

"We haven't made a decision on them yet, we'll have a look at them and make decisions. We have a lot of games coming up so we will be looking at one or two players."

FANS' FAVOURITE WRITES

PAUL MITCHELL

I HAVE to say the character of this team is unbelievable!

After a fantastic away victory at Grimsby which, in my opinion, is one of the hardest places to go to get anything let alone three points, Monday's performance was even better.

Although I didn't go to the game the conditions looked terrible and, against a resurgent Chesterfield team, getting the result was in the forefront of our minds.

What we produced was another professional display and carried on our amazing away form. Once again, everybody put in a great effort but it was our midfield for me that really stood out. Each player dominated there opposite number and kept the ball moving, not allowing the Chesterfield lads to get any control through the middle.

Last week saw the presentation of the Football League Awards, with Keith scooping the Player of the Year award for our division, and rightly so. To be blunt, I was disappointed we didn't have more players in the running.

It has to be said that Keith has had a brilliant season so far and we will need all our players like him to carry us through the finish line. I think our very own awards are going to be a somewhat tighter affair.

As I've said before, going to Wembley is a fantastic achievement but, as you have seen, we have never been more focused on gaining promotion. I don't think tickets for Wembley could have gone any quicker and it just goes to show, not only the great support the club has, but also the potential the club has to be a major force.

We now need to take that untapped support and bring it into our last 10 games.

Every little bit helps and it could be that support that drives us past the line!

See you all Saturday

Don's skipper has 'half an eye' on Posh for top

BY SIMONE CORGAN

simone.corgan@mk-news.co.uk

MK Dons are only concerned by their own form as the League Two title chase continues to heat up.

The top spot has switched hands a number of times in the past week with Peterborough United jumping above the Dons following their win last night.

On the plus side the Dons do have a game in hand, will host Peterborough in just over a weeks time and Posh still have to play promotion rivals Darlington and Hereford.

But Dons skipper Keith Andrews has admitted it is not easy to ignore their rivals' results.

"We haven't been worried about anyone else all season," he added, "Maybe half an eye is on Peterborough.

"We just have to worry about ourselves, we know if we win every single game we'll win the league. We really are just taking each game as it comes, we're more than capable of winning games week in, week out."

On Monday night the Dons extended their unbeaten run to seven games to keep the pressure on Darren Ferguson's men, something Andrews has noted.

"It's important we keep the pace up and not leave it until the last few games to make sure we have to get wins to get promoted, it's important to get them out of the way and get where we want to go."

A 2-1 win over Chesterfield live on the SKY cameras will certainly have put them one step closer and once again highlighted the Dons' class in the way they like to play the game.

Keith Andrews stretches out his right leg to hit the opener against Chesterfield on Monday night

And it was thanks to the midfielder that the Dons had a goal lead at half-time, after he arrived on time at the far post to poke home Alan Navarro's cross.

Andrews, named League Two Player of the Year last week, took his tally to 11 goals in the league this season but it had been a long wait to move his tally on from ten.

New Year's Day was the last time his named graced the score sheet and he was clearly relieved to get that monkey off his back.

"It's about time! I haven't scored in a while, obviously I'm delighted to get on the score sheet as long as we get the points and make sure the ball hits the back of the net."

The second strike came from Lloyd Dyer on the 70th minute, just sixty seconds after Chesterfield had levelled the score.

Saltergate is a tough place to play at the best of times and with the need to collect points it could prove to be a vital victory for Paul Ince's side.

"To be honest it's not a very nice place. It's a typical League One, League Two ground but you've got to come to these places grind out results, roll up our sleeves and make sure we're tough to beat."

With top scorer Mark Wright, Kevin Gallen and Drissa Diallo all close to returning from injury the Dons are set to be back to full strength in time for the final push of the season.

The show opens on Friday at 9.30 am and runs through until Sunday at 5pm. Opening hours are Friday 9.30 am until 8pm, Saturday 9am until 6pm and Sunday 11am until 5pm. As usual, the show is Free Admission to all.

Key Homes East

Keyhomes East, a specialist in affordable housing across Central and Eastern England, has helped thousands of people to find a home of their own at a price they can afford. Keyhomes East is a government-appointed HomeBuy agent, responsible for marketing all low cost home ownership schemes in two zones: Bedfordshire and Cambridgeshire, including Peterborough and parts of west Suffolk; and Northamptonshire.

They offer the following schemes:

- Open Market HomeBuy – this allows you to buy a home on the open market using savings and a mortgage, topped up by an equity loan.
- New Build HomeBuy – this applies to newly-built homes, offered by Keyhomes East and other housing associations on a part-buy, part-rent basis.
- First Time Buyer Initiative – this is similar to New Build Homebuy but there is no rent payable on the share you don't own for the first three years.
- Intermediate renting – these are homes available to key workers, such as teachers and nurses, at rents set lower than the private sector.

The HomeBuy schemes are designed to help key workers, council and housing association tenants, those on the local authority waiting list and some first-time buyers unable to buy a home outright.

Eligibility varies depending on location.

To find out more about who is eligible and the options available, visit www.keyhomes-east.org.uk and fill in an online application form. Alternatively, you can call the team 0845 4566757 or email info@keyhomes-east.org.uk

Homes 2 Own UK

Shared Ownership is a popular and suitable scheme whatever is happening in the rest of the housing market in these changing times.

Homes 2 Own UK are shared ownership specialists who make buying your own home affordable and best of all they're local but as part of the Guinness Partnership have expertise throughout the country.

Shared Ownership means owning a home of your own, on a part-buy/part-rent basis. You would typically own between 30-70% share of the new property and pay a discounted rent to a housing association on the remaining share. Is a flexible scheme – You can normally purchase more shares in your home as your circumstances change.

Shared Ownership means a smaller mortgage, and a rent you can budget for. You can often obtain a 100% mortgage for shared ownership, which means you do not have to find a large deposit.

To find out further information on their affordable homes please call 0844 800 2020 or visit www.homes2ownuk.com
